TRIBUTE TO THE FACULTY

The year is over; the last gun has been fired; the last flunk has been issued. So now shall we direct our careless footsteps to that red brick building which the sorrows, tribulations and triumphs of the past four years have made very dear to our hearts; the sound of our voices and laughter will no longer echo through its battered, service-wracked rooms and halls.

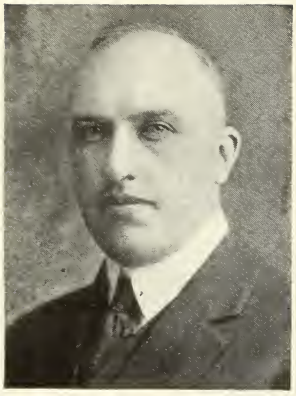
And at this point, it is altogether fitting that we should express in some way our appreciation of the teachers who, through those four long drawn years, have endured the ofttimes irksomeness of our presence; who have met with wonderful patience our waywardness and our faults, our stubbornness, and our abandon concerning studies.

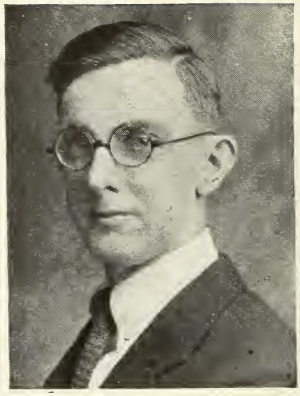
The teaching profession is not a wholly unadulterated pleasure. It has its moments of stress and strain; there are times when pupils try the nerves of even the most even-tempered and patient of teachers. Too often, we have been numbered with that type of pupil. Hard words have sometimes passed between us—excusable words on their part. But all that is forgotten.

Today, we remember only the fact that our teachers were moved by motives which had their inception in their regard for our interests and for our well being; our teachers were always our friends, although we did not always appreciate the fact.

Today, we take this opportunity to thank them, with duly grateful hearts, for all that they have done for us. We wish to apologize for the numerous things that we have done contrary to the advice and better judgment. And, as we leave our dear Alma Mater, we wish to assure our teachers that we shall do our utmost to prove worthy of their friendship, and of their esteem. Farewell, dear teachers—and friends; we wish you joy, and all the things which your magnificent qualities deserve.

THE PAVILION





MR. COBB

As principal of the school, during our four year's sojourn there, "Eben S." was a huge success. Stern at times, he could annihilate even the poise and the vanity of our haughtiest and most sophisticated classmate with his straight, direct, Macaulay-like utterance, and his Ciceronic vigor of expression when the object of his wrath deserved such treatment. We ought to know; we've been on the carpet more than once. (That "we" is not an editorial "we," either!) However, it was all for our own good, and it is only with the best of feeling that we bid him "good-by."

LEWIS S. GORDON, Jr.

Here we have the most popular teacher of all the faculty—the idol of the girls, and the pal and boon companion of the boys. Whenever any of us were in trouble, it was "Doc" that we ran to; and it was "Doc" who fixed things up for us. Affable and good-natured, his acquaintance was a genuine pleasure. Mr. Gordon's extensive knowledge of literature, and his keen insight into modern problems have made him a general standby for us when we were puzzled. Here's to "Doc"—"for he's a jolly good fellow."

ROSE RATHBUN

Miss Rathbun is small—but so is a stick of dynamite. We'll never forget the day when, while pursuing her duties as "Traffic Cop" in the lower corridor, she was mistaken for a girl student by one of our wild boys and was advised to get "outa the way" in a rather vigorous manner. Miss Rathbun not only refused to get out of the way but with a forcefulness of vocabulary that was as devastating as an avanlanche, and as blistering as a mustard plaster, she convinced him of the error of his vision. That's Miss Rathbun—coldly calm, and absolutely capable of holding up her end. She is very popular with the commercial students and is generally well-liked.

ELLEN K. STEVENS

Miss Stevens left us last year before many of us had an opportunity to be members of her classes. To those of us who were fortunate enough to become acquainted with her, she will always be remembered for her culture, her wide knowledge of affairs in general, and her thorough and sympathetic interest in her pupils. Her history classes were events: her explanations were classics of the kind. It was with sincere regrets that we heard of her resignation and it was with the best wishes for the future that we came to the parting of the ways.

SUSAN SMITH

Miss Smith was called to our attention first in Sophomore year in English. We, being a rather witty scholar (in our own estimation), chanced to make what is technically known as a "wise crack," and what she didn't do to us for our insolence is not to be mentioned. Thereafter, we behaved. Miss Smith's poise, and her utter righteousness at all times left us with nothing but regard and admiration in our souls. She taught us English—and "take it from us, Oswald," she taught. We all like Miss Smith, and wish her the best of luck.

HANNAH M. WALSH

Miss Walsh's queenly bearing and aristocratic carriage had us all guessing and fearful when we were Freshmen, but after the Sophomore year, we soon discovered our mistake. Kind and indulgent, she was ever ready to encourage us in our efforts, and was only too anxious to see to our welfare in all things. Miss Walsh's delicate sarcasm has more than once foiled the freshness of certain of our "wise" scholars, and made them realize that "wisdom" is a word found in the dictionary and not in themselves, as they so fondly hoped. We wish her the best of luck on our graduation.

MILDRED SMITH

Miss Smith, our drawing teacher, has done much to make her subject interesting. Always in a pleasant state of mind, and full of humor, she has never been a source of fear or dislike to any of us. We trust that she will continue to grace the High School with her presence for some time to come.

ROLAND B. HOUSTON

Mr. Houston, our mechanical drawing teacher, and lecturer extraordinary on the moral code, has, by his unusual method of dispensing knowledge, achieved for himself an unusual distinction in our minds. Always a stickler for what he termed "the honorable way," he was a safe haven and arbiter whenever our minds were puzzled by some question of honor or the like, and he settled it always for us in the right way. Very interesting, his classes were something which we looked forward to with real pleasure, and he was one of our best friends. Mr. Houston has the best wishes of all of us.

NELLIE KENT

We first became acquainted with Miss Kent in Sophomore year, and since then, have spent many enjoyable hours in her company—usually in her P. M. sessions. Miss Kent's knowledge of "Math" is profound, and when she got on the trail of a poor, little, weak, abstruse problem in Algebra it just naturally threw up its hands and surrendered. And as for Geometry—why she knew all those hard theorems by their pet names, and could actually make them jump rope. With such a teacher, we couldn't help learn our "Math," and it is with extreme gratitude that we bid farewell to our friend Miss Kent—and her P. M. sessions.

MARGARET O'NEILL

Beginning with our Sophomore year, Miss O'Neill took the place of the one and only "Guy" as head of our Latin Department and, during her two years incumbency, it must be said that she filled his place in a satisfactory and efficient manner. Merry-hearted and pleasant, she soon won a place in our hearts. No one could "Get away with anything" on "Peggy," however, as many found to their sorrow. We lost her through marriage last year, and we trust that married life will be for her a pleasant voyage.

MARIE GIBBONS

Miss Gibbons is that bewitching young brunette who lords it over Room Eight with such delightful sovereignity and severity. Everything she says goes, for who could refuse her? We've taken French from "Marie" for two years; we wish it were twenty. You know, she's that kind of a girl. Her rippling humor, and her delicate, satiric thrusts were outstanding features of "Marie" in our mind, and these things, plus her undeniable teaching ability, have made her acquaintance well worth while. We trust that Fortune will continue to smile on Marie in the casting of the lots, and that her path will be of a roseate hue.

MARY GIBBONS

Miss Gibbons, the feminine side of our gymnasium, has won a deservedly popular place in the hearts of our girls. The great interest shown in things pertaining to physical efficiency on the part of our girls, is an evidence of her success. The girls' hiking clubs, the great success of the girls' basketball team, and the many other athletic activities wherein the weaker sex participated, were all successful accomplishments of Miss Gibbons. We hope she will continue her good work with us for a long while.

MARTHA LINTON

Miss Linton is another one of our teachers who left us through marriage. As a music teacher, she was "old man Perfection himself;" many of us first became acquainted with real music through Miss Linton. Time after time, she piloted us through successful musical events; many of our recent graduation exercises were monuments to her ability as a teacher. We know that Miss Linton will be succesful in her career as a married woman. Failure for her in anything is impossible.

JOSEPH F. McCAFFREY

"Joe," as our athletic coach, and as our teacher, has had ample opportunity of showing us what he has of ability and we must admit that he is "there"—and "there" with emphasis. The huge success which has crowned his efforts on the athletic field is evident by a glance at our school's record of the past year. As a teacher, he has won our respect and esteem. Joe's sincerity, honesty, and straightforwardness have made him tremendously popular with every one, and it is safe to surmise that he runs even the incomparable "Doc" a close second. We wish "Joe" luck, and all the things that go with it.

MARY KERRIGAN

Mary Kerrigan "Molly" our petite Latin and French teacher is very popular with the girls and boys. Although she is a new member of the faculty, she certainly is a pleasant addition. We all know that Molly never forgot her High School days and we all love her for being lenient with us at times.

But did you ever try to get a drink during forbidden hours while "Molly" was on guard? "Try and do it." Also, did you ever try to get excused from reporting for misbehavior? Try it sometime. It's fun, but you'll report in the end. "Molly's" prim but she is a darling, and we'll never forget her with her sweet smile and curly hair.

ETHEL TIERNEY

As a Commercial teacher, Miss Tierney takes high rank. Her Commercial pupils will all swear by her, and will tell you what a true, staunch, reliable, and most delightful friend she is. Her ready compliance to help us in all our work is marked and appreciated by all. When we were trying to make "Your favor of the 16th noted," etc. out of what looked to us like some of King Tut's hieroglyphics, she was ever ready to aid us in our perplexity. Even that smile of hers, and her willingness to give us a lift in her "limousine," have shown us that she is a truly pleasant young lady.

PATRICK F. HYNES

Through the labyrinth of historical and patriotic data and statistics, through silver coinage and the dark and dismal doings of America Verpucci, from Christoforo Colombo to Pershing, we have been led by Mr. Hynes during the past year. As our history teacher, "Pat" was great; we certainly enjoyed him. Mr. Hynes is a firm believer in the efficacy of public speaking and he never loses an opportunity to practice what he preaches. His wit is good, and quite amusing. We are sorry to terminate our acquaintance with Mr. Hynes, but what is our loss, will be the gain of the other High School students.

ELLEN SMALL

Miss Small, teacher of domestic science, has proven a valuable asset, as our cooking ability will show. "The way to a man's heart is through his stomach" as the old adage has it, and if that maxim is true, we girls will make excellent wives for some young men in the future. You boys in our class take notice. Miss Small has always been our friend, and we trust that she will have a pleasant time of it when we shall leave.

ALICE B. McNAB

Miss McNab and we have been friends ever since Freshman year, a very fortunate occurrence for us. We enjoyed her English classes immensely; her willingness to brighten things up by introducing innovations and her general desire to do all in her power to make English, as a subject, interesting, struck the proper chords in our hearts, plans. We thank Miss McNab sincerely, and we feel real regret in leaving her.

ELEANOR DRISCOLL

Miss Driscoll is a recent arrival, but we all look on her as an old friend. Her patience with us in our efforts to sing the high parts of some difficult song was really wonderful; more than once she has rescued the boys from the black depths of bass and has helped to instil in their hearts the principle that singing is an art and not a series of howls and hideous noises. Pleasant and capable, she surely is a welcome addition to the faculty.

HENRY J. McSHERRY

On September 6th, we were surprised to see our new Chemistry teacher, Mr. McSherry. The bone-rimmed glasses gave him a rather severe look, and, for a time, we were in fear and trembling in his presence. Familiarity bred knowledge and regard in our case and we soon lost our fear. Mr. McSherry has become extremely popular with our class and we leave only with the best of thoughts and feelings.

Toot! Toot! Toot! Stop, look, listen, folks! Just a sec.! Gimme your attention. This is the 1923 engine making a bee-line out of High School! If you don't think we're speeding, watch our smoke curl, and excuse our dust. Lower your blinkers 'cause our cinders fly!

We're a wild crew, but our intentions are good. If you fail to understand our eccentricities and idyosincrasies, t'aint our fault—we're free, white, and seventeen. But what we want to put you wise to is this (and you can write it down on your cuff, too): We have written this book partly for sport, and we hope you're going to like it; still, that's neither here nor there, and if you don't, why we're not going to get peeved about it. Of course, there's all the carmarks of a few gentle reminders, alias clams; but remember those all go to make up life.

The purpose of our work here is to cheer you when you are feeling mean and sorta' melancholy, and we've got a hunch we can do it. Just turn over a leaf or two and you'll be surprised what our Purple and Gold holds for you. And, when some guy gives you credit for your work—just let your reflections roam back to those days when our capable and persevering engineer, a man by the name of Cobb, guided you safely through to your destination without demanding transfers.

If your ambitions don't materialize, it's no use to grumble and complain; arm yourself with the best kind of courage, "Try-it-again!"

So, my friends, if you don't like our proposition herein, push the button, and our genial conductor, Joe, will let you off at the next station.

Thanks a lot for your attention, and now we'll say, "Good-bye, and all-aboard for our new goal. Fortune and Prosperity!"

IRVING MORRILL AVERY

"Avo"

Technical Course

Favorite Occupation: Hunting and fishing.
Favorite Expression: "Oh, that's easy!"
Favorite Song: "Why should I cry over you?"
Favorite Drink: Milk.

In our Freshman year, we didn't hear much about him; while in our Sophomore year our eyes commenced to be opened by the marks he "pulled" in French. But in our Junior year how he hit that Junior Math., and in the Senior year, Oh! Boy! That Trig. and Solid! It was much the same way that Avery won his way into our hearts, slowly, but surely.

We expect big things from Irving in the line of electrical engineering. We know that he will succeed in college, and if he doesn't invent or discover the "Eighth wonder of the World," we shall be surprised.

All we ask Irving is that he remember the Old Class of '23 which is wishing him the best of luck in his endeavors.

HELEN MARIE BACHOSE

"Peewee, Shrimp, Peanut, Little Helen"

College Course

Favorite Occupation: Taking examinations.
Favorite Expression: Dépêchez-vous.
Favorite Song: "Carolina in the Morning."
Favorite Drink: Strawberry Ice Cream Soda.

"Good things come in small packages." If you doubt the truth of this old adage, you are not yet acquainted with "Little Helen."

How many of us have come to school with lessons unprepared after a busy (?) evening, and found ready assistance from Peanut? "If there be one, let him now speak forth or be forever silent!"

As steady and faithful a mortal as ever trod on shoeleather, she has won an enviable place in our hearts, and also those of her teachers. Yes sir! Helen has something in her head besides wood (and it's not swelling either).

Being short has its advantages, she will tell you. For instance—during French Class, "Peewee" O'Toole asked Miss Gibbons if the class might be dismissed from school to attend "Les Miserables," then being shown at the auditorium. Miss Gibbons said, "Why don't you go in the evening?" Helen quickly interrupted, "He's so small he can get in for a dime in the afternoon." (Experience teaches!)

Helen is planning to attend Emmanuel College next fall, and we know that success will follow her wherever she may be.

HENRY THOMAS BRODERICK

"Hen"

Senior Play

College Course

Favorite Occupation: Milking cows.
Favorite Expression: "Try and do it."
Favorite Song: "Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean.
Favorite Drink: Orange-ade-Cider.

"Hen" joined our ranke as a Junior from the hills of Sterling in 1921. For several months, if we had depended on our auditory organs alone, we would hardly have known of his presence among us. His tongue loosened gradually, however, and is now in excellent working condition.

Steady, and faithful, he prepares his lessons daily, thus winning favor with the teachers, and becoming a veritable storehouse of information for those classmates less studiously inclined, one glance at his report card will convince any one of this.

"Hen" intends to enter Boston University Law School after preparation at Holy Cross. We know success will follow him in his chosen profession, and Mr. Taft may thank his lucky stars that judges are appointed for life. May the best of luck go with you, "Hen," along with the wishes of 1923 for your future success.

LAWRENCE FRANCIS BURKE

"Larry"

Football 2, 3, 4.

Technical Course

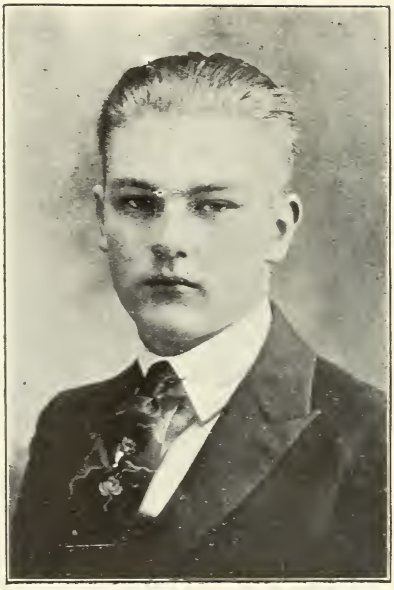
Favorite Occupation: Motorcycling.
Favorite Expression: Step on it!
Favorite Song: "Three O'Clock in the Morning"
Favorite Drink: Milk.

Before you is the speed demon of America! What Burkey doesn't know about Fords, autos, and motorcycles wouldn't fill the back of a postage stamp. His "Alibis to Speed-Cops" are masterpieces and are avidly perused by the younger generation.

Larry was likewise a "speed demon" on the football field, and spared neither life nor limb of his opponent. During his high school career he achieved additional fame by playing "Damon" to Luch's "Pythias." Occasionally, however, he lapsed into the humble role of "punching bag", while Luch successfully imitated Jack Dempsy!

Larry intends to be a doctor in the future; we know that he will secure the patronage of the feminine element, especially if he gives away autographed photographs of himself at each visit!

Here's to you, Larry, for you're a "jolly good fellow!"



JOHN FRANCIS PATRICK BURKE

"Zig" "Piggy"

College Course

Favorite Occupation: Playing Poker.
Favorite Expression: "Hi Sam"
Favorite Song: "My Dearest Love."
Favorite Drink: Gent's Private stock.

Behold the Physiognomy of J. F. Burke, and take special note of his motto. That Motto expresses Piggy perfectly. He is a wonderful worker and has established a record for steady, conscientious work and reliability second to none. Always well up in his lessons, J. F. has never had recourse to "cribbing" or to that practice which one of our ingenious mates has nicknamed "correcting someone else's work." Piggy has picked out the medical profession, and, after gazing upon those really professional looking glasses, we are inclined to believe that he will make good. J. F. has decided to go to Holy Cross, and here's the wish of old C.H.S. for his success in every line of life.

EDNA CAMERON

"Eddie" "Camy"

Editorial Staff, Class Book; Operetta, 3; Junior Prom Committee
Commercial Course

Favorite Occupation: "Rooting for Buicks."
Favorite Expression: "Oh Boy!"
Favorite Song: "Love will Find a Way."
Favorite Drink: Presque La Biére.

"Eddie" made her appearance in this mortal world on the 13th of June. It sounds real inauspicious for her; but at the same time, she must have been born under a lucky star. Worry was left out from early infancy; in fact, she never worries to any great extent about her work; she does what she can, lets the rest go but smiles all the time. Perhaps this solves the reason why Eddie conceived such a suddent fondness for U. S. History. We feel that her histronic capabilities will terminate in success.

Her punctual disappearance from within our halls at 3.15 p.m. led us to wonder what attraction our Bright Broadway held for "Camy." Now, my dear, our suspicions have been verified and we know that it is a long lane that hasn't got a certain Candy Shop at the end of it! And besides, we know that you are a permanent passenger in a splendidly chauffered Buick—Yes?

"Camy" tells us that she is contemplating entering a Business College; but—ssh—some of us think that she is going to specialize in a course on Matri Moni. Anyway, here's to the best of luck, Mon amie, in whatever field of service you may engage.

MURIEL ALICE CARD

"Spuddy"

Glee Club, 4; Hiking Club, 4.

Commercial Course

Favorite Occupation: Day-dreaming and posing.
Favorite Expression: Oh, dear!
Favorite Song: "Gee, but I hate to get up in the morning."
Favorite Drink: Strawberry Frappe.

Muriel is that demure little lady whom we all admire but whom few of us have had the advantage of really knowing. Quiet and reserved, she attended strictly to her own affairs, and it was only on rare occasions that we boys were gifted with her smile. But her girl friends say that she considers we boys are terribly young. Perhaps that explains everything. We do wish that we knew Muriel better for we are confident that her friendship would be valuable and interesting. Muriel is undecided in her plans for the future, but we wish her the best of luck in whatever she undertakes.

EDWARD JOSEPH CLEARY, JR.

"Big Ed"

Football, 1, 2, 3; Captain of Football Team 4; Track 3;

College Course

Favorite Occupation: Attending Football Games.
Favorite Expression: "Let's go."
Favorite Song: "O Pal o' Mine."
Favorite Drink: H. 2 O.

"Ed" is another of those quiet, good-natured, reserved chaps whom everybody likes (please consult the class ballot). Did any one ever see him when his temper was the least bit ruffled? We don't think so, nor we don't want to see him ruffled either, for one tap from his "deadly right", would produce more stars and planets than can be seen through the most powerful telescope.

"Big Boy's" size and strength won him a position on the football squad from the start. His earnest efforts were rewarded by the captaincy in his Senior year. The shot putt and javelin are mere playthings in his hand, and as a baseball twirler, he has shown his worth.

Next year, we expect to hear from "Little Ed" on the Holy Cross freshman football team. Good luck, Ed; '23 extends every wish for your future success.

BEATRICE MARY COTE

"Bee" "Beatrix"
Glee Club; O'Hara San.
College Course

Favorite Occupation: Playing Baseball.
Favorite Expression: "Oh ding it all."
Favorite Song: "Bee's Knees."
Favorite Drink: Ice cream soda.

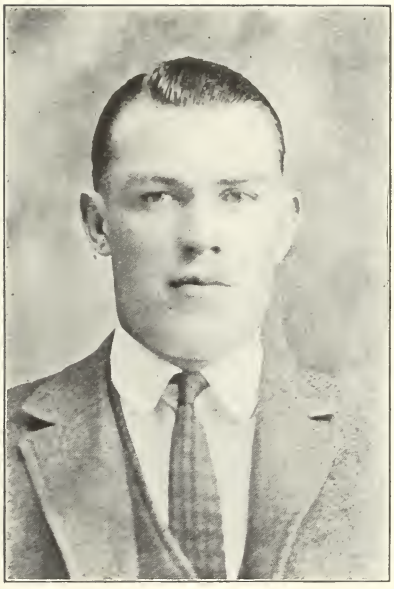
"Petite, demure, exceedingly clever"—these are but a few of the many adjectives which could be employed in describing our "Bee." After a glance at the above picture you will mentally add the rest—"pretty, dainty, mischievous"—and we will all certainly agree with you.

"Bee" has the much envied reputation of being one of the best-dressed girls, not only in our class, but also in the whole school! And she surely lived up to her reputation. Wherever any social event came along. "Bee's" only worry was, not what, but which one, she would wear!

Speaking of social events, we find it opportune to remark that "Bee" was always very much in evidence at all of them, surrounded by her numerous admirers between dances, and allowing them to "cut in" during dances.

"Bee" claims to have an aversion for cats, but we know a "kitty"—however, that would be telling tales out of school!

Au revoir, "Bee"; may your path for the future be a "short-cut" to Success!



JAMES MAURICE CONNELLY

"Luch, Big Jim"

Football, 2, 3, 4; Track, 3,4

College Course

Favorite Occupation: Running locomotives.
Favorite Expression: "Toot! toot! Look out for the Handcar!"
Favorite Song: "Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean."
Favorite Drink: Water.

You are now gazing upon the handsome countenance of James M. Connelly, the biggest, huskiest, and most considerable boy in the class. "Luch's huge physical proportions have stood him in good stead on the football field, where, for the last few years, he has been a "Holy terror" playing on the line. James played like a locomotive running smuck, and, when given the ball, and ordered to buck the opposing line, usually went through it like a wild bull in an orphan asylum. Luch was extremely popular with the "Gentle" sex and hardly a recess went by that we could not see him arm in arm with some one of its fair members. Good-natured and amiable, Luch has nothing but the regard of his classmates.

Luch's ambition leads him to the open doors of Holy Cross, where we know he will be cordially welcomed.

MARGARET MARY CROWLEY

"Peg, Marg."

Secretary of Hiking Club 4; Junior Prom Committee; A. A. 1; Glee Club 4.

Commercial Course.

Favorite Occupation: Practising Coue's Auto-suggestion.
Favorite Expression: "Day by day", etc.
Favorite Song: "Why should I cry over you?"
Favorite Drink: Chocolate Ice Cream Soda.

"I am the only one; I cannot do everything, but I can do something, and I will not refuse to do the something that I can do", typifies Peg to perfection. Peg is not at all selfish with the knowledge that she gains: she is the soul of generosity and ever ready to impart the aforesaid knowledge to her neighbor.

In Stenography and Bookkeeping, Peg was a veritable wizard: and when it came to comparing Trial Balances and Statements, she never hesitated to quote her totals. Margie seldom had any snappy narratives to relate for the benefit of her neighbor, but was more than willing to appreciate the other fellow's joke. She is a real "sport" and attends all the school affairs. It is rumored that there was rather a substancial reason for her initiation into the Hiking Club. Oh yes, Margie has a natural inclination towards corpulency —what we mean!

Peg is uncertain as to just what will be her means of subsistence in the future, but we are sure that whatever she may undertake, her efforts will lead her to a successful and deserving goal.

JONATHAN DAVIS

"Jock, Jack, Johnny"

Baseball Manager, 4; Track, 3; Dramatics, 4; Senior Play

College Course

Favorite Occupation: Watching the baseball team get defeated!
Favorite Expression: Aw Gee!
Favorite Song: "Invictus."
Favorite Drink: Milk.

Our Junior Year sure was an eventful one, for did it not bring us Jock? At first, Jock was quite bashful, and we made the mistake of cataloguing him as "quite, unassuming," etc.—but it did not take us long to find out our mistake! Do you remember the romantic looking fellow with the Jack Holt mustache in the Senior Play? No one would have guessed that it was Jock's debut on the stage. Jock furnishes the brains for the male portion of the Senior Class. He is especially brilliant in Latin, and if we ever printed some of Jock's "translations" of the romances of the various gods and goddesses, Rupert Hughes and F. Scott Fitzgerald would be given a lengthy "vacation."

Jock has been accepted as a Dartmouth freshman, and we feel sure that we shall hear great things of him in the future. Au revoir, Jock!

HELEN MARIE DEVANEY

"Red-Top"

College Course

Vice-President of Class of 1923, 4; Secretary of Class, 2, 3; Secretary of A. A., 4; Sophomore, Junior, Senior Dance Committees; Banquet Committee; Class Day Committee; Editorial Staff; Class Ring Committee; Glee Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Orchestra, 1, 2, 3; Junior Prom Committee; Dramatics, 2, 3, 4; Senior Play

Favorite Occupation: Laughing.

Favorite Expression: My dear!

Favorite Song: "Smiling Thru'."

Favorite Drink: Lime and Orange.

Helen is one of our many pretty girls; of that there is no doubt! She is also one of our most popular girls judging from the way her dance-card rapidly fills up.

Helen was always ready to join in any mischief that might be afoot—but her unusual ability to look innocent at a minute's notice saved her from the wrath of the "powers that be"—a stroke of good luck which never befell the rest of us—until one sad day when she accidently spilled the pickle juice! And which one of us will ever forget that day?

Helen's destination is normal school, and if she succeeds in the future as she has done in C. H. S., we know she will come "smilin' through."

MABEL GERTRUDE DOBECK

"Dutchy, Dough"

Commercial Course

Favorite Occupation: Reading; attending the movies.
Favorite Expression: Nifty, what?
Favorite Song: "Chicago."
Favorite Drink: Chocolate Milk.

Not less conspicuous is Mable—friend indeed to each and every classmate. She is a movie fan of the first degree, and can relate the ups and downs of any movie star, being familiar with them all from Jackie Coogan to Valentino.

Mabel is somewhat of a reader, and uses her imagination freely. When called upon to give her idea of this or that, mindful that concealment will avail her nothing, she expresses her opinions—caring little whether they are right or wrong.

She is contented, never complains, and is willing to aid any one at anytime. No wonder she pains herself to please every one when she can gain so many friends.

Mable has yielded to the call of Fitchburg Normal School. In future days we may see her teaching children how to read and write. We hope she may prosper in the great work.

JOSEPH FRANCIS ENRIGHT

"Doddy"

College Course

Favorite Occupation: Visiting the movies
Favorite Expression: "Wise up."
Favorite Song: "Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean."
Favroite Drink: Water.

It takes sometime to know him, but when you do "O Boy," it's worth while. Modest and bright is "Doddy" Enright, and a good all around fellow. Studies never seemed to worry him much, but when he did study, he could "pull" the marks.

Joe is bound for Holy Cross, and we know he will make a success of his college career. His humor, straight forwardness, winning personality have won for him a host of friends in Clinton High School, and we know they will wherever he goes.

So here's good-bye, Joe, and good luck. You have been a worthy classmate, and a true friend.

MARY FRANCES FADGEN

"May" "Sis" "Fadgie"

Basketball, 3; Hiking Club; Sophomore, Senior Dance Committees; Glee Club, 4; A. A. 1, 2.

Normal Course

Favorite Occupation: Dancing.
Favorite Expression: "Gosh."
Favorite Song: "Gee but I hate to go Home Alone."
Favorite Drink: "Whistle."

Nothing seems so easy as to speak of one whom we love. Faces never lie: it is said; therefore, as we gaze upon a picture of Cupid, with fluffy hair and sweet smile, we immediately think of a certain individual—"Sis."

Fadgie is an all round good sport; plays basketball, enjoys hiking, not to mention dancing, and auto riding. To prove that she is an athlete, she has won a "C"—something to be proud of. But we hear that May is to give up all forms of athletics because she has been mortally wounded by Cupid's dart.

May's goal is Fitchburg Normal School, where she intends to study for that grand and glorious position of a teacher. As the years go by, we fear that our Mary will not care to remain a teacher—another path is destined for her. That success should follow her to the end is the ardent wish of her classmates.

DOROTHY ELEANOR FAY

"Dot, Granny, Giggles"
Operetta, 3; Glee Club, 4; Senior Play; Editorial Staff
Commercial Course

Favorite Occupation: Consulting ouija.
Favorite Expression: Huh! That's good.
Favorite Song: Confrey's "Poor Buttermilk."
Favorite Drink: Coffee Frappe.

Have you ever had a friend, a "pal" who always defended you and on whom you could always rely for consolation? If not, allow me to introduce you to Dot alias Giggles. Yes, the pleasure is all hers, she is glad to make your acquaintance.

"Just being happy, is a fine thing to do"—this is Dot's bit of sunny philosophy, and it has won her hosts of friends. Sorrow never lingers long with our joyous classmate, and she can help you, too, to find the silver lining to all your clouds.

Dorothy appeared in the humorous role of "Granny" in our last Senior play, and her understanding and rendition of the grandmother's nature were perfect.

Modest "Dot" claims her testimonials have not arrived as yet, but we happen to know of a certain few in the art of Drawing which go to prove her creditable standing in that subject. She is also susceptible to the charms of music, and she has already revealed her intentions of pursuing a course in music in the near future. We feel safe in asserting that audiences will fall victims to her musical charms.

MARY JOSEPHINE FLAHERTY

"Flarry"

College Course

Favorite Occupation: Wandering.
Favorite Expression: " I won't be let."
Favorite Song: "The Old Gray Mare."
Favorite Drink: Water.

Well, let's see what adjectives we'll use in describing Mary,—"good?" just the thing!; "steady?"—of course!; "quiet?"—surely! And so on through the whole list. Sometime, long, long ago in the dim past, far buried in the musty annals of the class, it is recorded (according to tradition) that Mary failed to recite when she was called upon. But we don't remember. That shows how unusual such an event was. For Mary is one of the Gibralters of our class when it comes to reliability, and scholastic consistency. She was always the last resort—and a sure and safe one—to our harrassed teachers when a particularly knotty and difficult question arose. Very well behaved, she was truly a model scholar, and one after the hearts of teachers and students alike. Mary will "come through" in after life; of that, there can be no question.

ETHEL GRACE FROST

"Frosty"

Sophomore Dance Committee; Editorial Staff

General Course

Favorite Occupation: Inspiring Packy's poems.
Favorite Expression: Good-night!
Favorite Song: "Wishing Moon."
Favorite Drink: Grape Punch.

A rather warm night in June, a night wind whispering stealthy secrets to the shrubbery and long grass, air impregnated with the scent of flowers, and a soft, purple sky alive with luminous stars and a low-hanging red moon—that, expressed in our feeble editorial way, is what Ethel calls to our mind. There is positively no denying it. Ethel is beautiful. We can remember long ago when we were Freshmen, our first view of "Little Ethel." We thought that she was really wonderful even then, and were so awe-stricken that it took us over a year to even presume to become acquainted. And then came the second pleasurable reaction, for we discovered that Ethel's personality was as pleasing as her personal appearance. Unspoiled, modest, and kind—she was and is the living refutation of F. Scott Fitzgerald's oft-repeated declaration that the girl of her type is dead. We wish Ethel all the luck in the world, and are confident that her virtues, combined with her gifts and talent, will insure her the best of treatment at the hands of Fate.

NORA GILLESPIE

Commercial Course

Favorite Occupation: Bluffing History.
Favorite Expression: Oh you know what I mean.
Favorite Song: Nero my dog has fleas.
Favorite Drink: Nectar.

Nora is a carefree and vivacious little flapper, and anything snappy or peppy appeals to her syncopated nature.

Nora was never what you would call real punctual in attending school; or rather in reaching the assembly. In fact she was real indignant at the necessity of climbing daily the three flights. She was not unafflicted with that huge conceit which is part and parcel of the modern flapper, and it was her wont to knock our history class (and Mr. Hynes) cold by her orginal and decidedly hair-raising ideas on the world and politics in general. Facts never worried Nora. Materialistic, sordid, mean and all that, you know what we mean. She believed with Napoleon, that imagination ruled the world. Unfortunately for Nora, Mr. Hynes didn't and there was, bloody war, North, East, South and West when the pair of them came together in class, Nora's jazzy personality will shimmy her into success, and she does not need our well wishes. She can go some anyway.

CATHERINE AGNES GLEASON

"Kate" "Kay" "Katie"

Hiking Club, 4.

Commercial Course

Favorite Occupation: Canoeing at "Whalom."
Favorite Expression: "Imagination it."
Favorite Song: "Lovin' Sam."
Favorite Drink: Vanilla Frappe.

If in the hours of clear reason we should speak the severest truth, we should say that there is an amiable Miss in our Class—very noisy indeed—known as piquant "Kate." To look at her one would get the impression that she is very quiet, but we know different and are convinced when we consult the Class Ballot.

A little consideration of what takes place around us every day when Katie is present, would reveal pleasant memories, especially in U. S. History where she displays her humor. We all remember the day she went to the map, "to run the Tennessee River along (?)."

Kate is an industrious little lassie, eager to accomplish much, and sure to prosper because of her honesty and ability. She is interested in bookkeeping, and has decided upon Bay Path for her final education; it's up to us to guess the rest.

JOSEPH GOODWIN

"Joe"

President 4; Student Staff 1, 2; Orchestra 1, 2, 3; Editorial Staff 4; Sophomore and Junior Dance Committee; Class Ring Committee.

College Course

Favorite Occupation: Motoring.
Favorite Expression: "Gosh!"
Favorite Song: "Oriental Blues."
Favorite Drink: Ginger Punch.

ALL HAIL TO OUR PRESIDENT!

Here, certainly, is proof that a man's character cannot be determined by his outward appearance; for who would ever suspect Joe of being a wily politician, ladies' man, musician, and last but foremost, president of the Senior Class? Yes, Joe's formidable looking glasses surely are deceiving as a certain "cute, little, pretty, witty, charming darling-she" could testify.

Although Joe has never taken an active part in the athletics of the school, he was always on the front line to cheer the boys on to victory.

Joe goes to Dartmouth with our other shark "Jock," where we're sure they'll both continue to add links of honor to their already strong chains of glory, and will eventually attain the very heights of Fame. Farewell, Joe, and the best wishes and luck—always remember 1923 backs you up.

JOHN AUGUSTINE HEAGNEY

"Shorty, Dobbin"

Dramatics, 2; Junior and Senior Dance Committees;
Junior Prom Committee
College Course

Favorite Occupation: Giving Cleary the razz.
Favorite Expression: "Aw, v'haddya talking about."
Favorite Song: "Pal O' Mine."
Favorite Drink: Pineapple Frappe.

The smiling "Hercules" pictured above is none other than John Augustus Heagney, one of our most prominent boys. A regular midget when a Freshman, Dobbin graduates in the same condition as regards size. But there's good stuff in small packages, we'll have you know, look at Napoleon. Huh! It's brain that counts—and not brawn. Of the first-mentioned, Dobbin has an unusual supply and, though he has not over-worked them as we recall, still they're there, and where there's fire, there will be smoke. John is going to accomplish something worth while in after life, of that we are certain. Every one seems to like Dobbin—a good sign; and everyone wishes him luck.

DOROTHY ELIZABETH HENNIS

"Dot" "Dotty"

Operetta, 4; Glee Club, 4

Normal Course

Favorite Occupation: Eating.
Favorite Expression: Hey! Oh, Gee!
Favorite Song: Gee But I Hate to go Home Alone.
Favorite Drink: Chocolate Ice Cream Soda.

We have another "Dot" in our class whom we would like you to meet. She's the girl with the lovely, lovely curls. Everyone likes Dot immensely; you just can't help it. She is always delighted to be of assistance to those unfortunate ones, who, for some unimaginable reason, have forgotten to complete their English assignment or mislaid their last experiment in Chemistry.

"Dot" very quickly won her way into the hearts and confidences of her classmates and became a shining light on social occasions as well as in our classrooms. She is always pleasant and friendly towards all, and works very diligently in her studies. Dot firmly believes that what is worth doing, is worth doing well, and perhaps this accounts for her election to the office of assistant business manager.

Dorothy intends to enter the Framingham Normal School, and the sincerest wishes of 1923 for success and happiness accompany her.

HELEN MARIE HOBAN

"Hel" "Snitz"

Manager of Girl's Basketball Team: Junior Prom Committee: Senior Dance Committee: Glee Club, 4.

Normal Course

Favorite Occupation: Filling out tardy slips.
Favorite Expression: "Honest."
Favorite Song: After the Ball was Over.
Favorite Drink: Chocolate Float.

Helen has only two bad habits that we know of: one is staying out late at night, the other is a fondness for sleeping late in the morning. School never begins until 8.10 1-2 in her estimation, and sometimes, after a particularly strenuous evening, not until later.

"Hel's" name is already writ in the halls of fame by her excellent performance of duty as manager of the girls' basketball team.

Helen has set her heart on being a teacher and will enter Normal School for that purpose. We know she will succeed (if she buys an alarm clock), and we wish her all the luck of '23.

ALICE ELIZABETH HURLEY

"Al"

Basketball, 2, 3, 4; Junior Prom Committee; Senior Dance Committee; Invitation Committee; Debating, 3; Glee Club, 4

General Course

Favorite Occupation: Getting in dutch.
Favorite Song: "At the End of a Perfect Day."
Favorite Expression: "Gee whizz!"
Favorite Drink: H2O.

Alice took a very active part in all of the girl's sports, from Freshman year until Senior, when her efforts and loyalty to the team were rewarded and she became Captain (and a very worthy Captain too, for was not the team the best in many years?) "Al's" jolly, carefree, obliging disposition has won her many friends especially on the team's various trips, when she was always willing to occupy the "dinky seat" and thus relieve our estimable manager.

"Packy" had a bad habit of reciting the history lesson out loud in Mr. Hynes' classes, especially when one of her friends was called upon, for which habit, let us say, she was often rewarded with a zero!

Alice goes to Fitchburg Normal School next year where we are sure she'll make the basketball team, and with her go the best wishes of old '23.

LESTER GIBSON JAQUITH

"Spike" "Jake" "Lester De Pester"

Technical Course

Favorite Occupation: Playing Tennis
Favorite Expression: Aw' Gwan.
Favorite Song: "You Tell 'Em Ivories."
Favorite Drink: Soothing Syrup.

His peach-blow complexion and blond locks ought surely to have fascinated some petite maiden long ere this, but we have never heard of it—nay, even suspected it. When "Spike" first came to C. H. S. his principal assets were a good supply of grit and ambition to go ahead. Now, he spends his time listening-in: as you perhaps know he is a real enthusiastic radio fan.

Have you ever seen Jake trip the light fantastic on the tennis court? It certainly is a shame that his leaning towards the terpsichorean art has not been developed to a greater extent.

Ol' King Tut would have hung his head in jealously had he heard Jake solve a solid geometry problem.

Lester intends to enter Worcester Polytechnic Institute next fall, and we may all rest assured that with this intention he is surely turning to the right.

PATRICK EDWARD JOYCE

"Packy, Shakespeare"

College Course

Favorite Occupation: Keeping awake.
Favorite Expression: "I beg to differ."
Favorite Song: "It's all over now."
Favorite Drink: Attar of Roses.

Packy is the member of our class of whom we are proudest! Whenever any one dares to insinuate that '23 is not 100 per cent perfect, we draw ourselves erect and point silently to our Shakespeare and O'Hara rolled in one! All "conscientious objectors" are immediately silenced!

Packy's wit was very well known—but it was not always appreciated. Perhaps that was due to the fact that the faculty, as a whole, does not care to have its faults and eccentricities brought to light—no matter how clever the manner!

"Shakespeare" is well liked by all his classmates—although they are some what in awe of his genius. But any one who was fortunate enough to penetrate beneath his cruse of cynicism and reserve, found a staunch friend and congenial companion.

The weather always had a telling effect on Packy. Most of us enjoyed the balmy spring breezes, but Packy was always restless and unhappy unless there was a "Frost" hovering near.

Seriously, we know that the future for Patrick offers Fame and Success. Our wish is, that the melody in life for him may never cease—and when his ship of dreams comes in, may its decks o'erflow with his desires. Bon voyage—Packy!

LAWRENCE WEBSTER KITTREDGE

"Kitty" "Web" "Caruso" "Spider"

C. H. S. Orchestra, 2; Class Book Staff

Commercial Course

Favorite Occupation: Gathering "Goose Eggs" in History Class.

Favorite Expression: "Oh, Jazz it Up!"

Favorite Song: "Nero My Dog has Fleas."

Favorite Drink: Non-intoxicating Lamb-broth.

Ladies and gentlemen, we have the honor of having with us tonight a youth in whom we have every thing that makes up a talented gentleman: his voice is the envy of Caruso; his facility in tickling the ivories makes even Paderewski marvel; he wields a brush with the ease and skill of Harrison Fisher; and now, without further introduction, let me present to you—Honorable Lawrence Webster Kittredge.

How often during trying hours in the Assembly Hall, we heard "Caruso's" voice, clear as a fog horn, mellow, and with the qualities of the famous "Puss," rise and soar to the heavens, Ah!—but words fail us; it is impossible to describe his voice. How often have we in attendance of a dance watched with eyes widened with wonder, "Spider's" fingers "jazz it up."

"Kitty" plans to enter Boston Normal Art in the fall. Wherever he goes his path will be strewn with roses, and he is bound to obtain success. We've no doubt that, in future years, we will be buying magazines with covers sketched by our old classmate "Web."

PAUL JOHN KITTREDGE

"Kitty"

Athletics 1, 2, 3, 4.

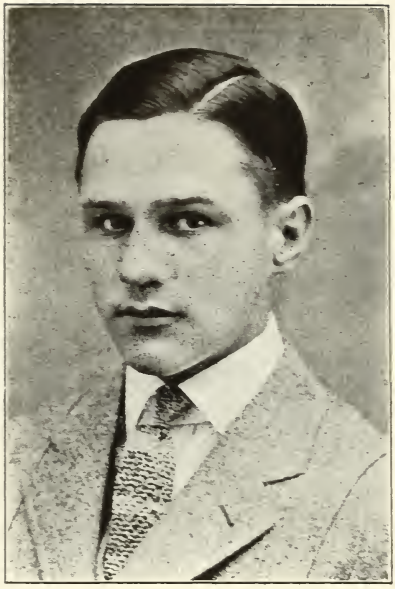
College Course

Favorite Occupation: Buzzing around!
Favorite Expression: Oh B. sweet!
Favorite Song: "Bee's Knees."
Favorite Drink: Honey dew.

Words are of no avail when it comes to describing Kitty; his deeds have proclaimed him far and near as the best athlete that C. H. S. has ever known, the most popular fellow that ever wore an Arrow collar, the "most honestest" treasurer that ever forged a check. But words, useless as they are, fail us. Please consult the Class Ballot.

Whether playing football, baseball, or basketball, Kitty was the whole team. The rest of the fellows were for ornamental purposes only. "Paul John," early corralled the elusive elf, "Success" for his mascot, and together they scored victory upon victory for C. H. S. Kitty was also a valuable addition to any class. His slow drawling voice could lengthen out even the shortest sentence into a long recitation chuck full of "wise cracks" and well veiled bluff.

We can see Kitty, some years hence, with his experienced partner, Ebie, as the champion breaker of the 18th amendment, and we know that he will obtain the best results.



IRVING KRAEMER

"Kray" "Oi"

Basketball, 3: Football, 4

College Course

Favorite Occupation: Touring.
Favorite Expression: "Yah!"
Favorite Song: "I'll take you home again Kathleen."
Favorite Drink: Schlitz.

Only four short years ago, Irving came in, looked us over, and decided to endure our company for a while, at once he had a circle of close friends, and we considered ourselves fortunate in obtaining him as a classmate. Take a slant at his countenance and you will see one of the reasons for his popularity among the gentler sex.

"Kray" uses his gray matter to good advantage, but would rather "cut assembly" than walk up in front of the school to receive his testimonials.

His ability as an athlete has been shown on the football field, and basketball floor.

Tuft's Dental College claims him next year, and we congratulate the school in being able to procure such a sterling good fellow. Good-bye and good luck from '23. Irving.

WILBERT KRAEMER

"Bub" "Bobby"

Baseball, 1, 2, 3, 4; Basketball, 1, 2, 3; Football, 4

College Course

Favorite Occupation: Roller Skating.
Favorite Expression: "Can you bend that?"
Favorite Song: "Just before the Battle Mother."
Favorite Drink: Lemonade.

"Wilbert Kraemer?" Oh! you mean "Bobby," yes that is he all right; but you should see him in action. We think that instead of being born with "a silver spoon in his mouth" (as the saying goes) "Bub" came into the world holding a basketball in his right, and a catcher's mitt in his left hand.

Who can forget that speedy player as he swiftly worked his way down the basketball floor, skillfully passing and dodging. Now he's there, and now he isn't, but there goes the ball through the basket! Two more points for C. H. S.

In baseball, the reverse is true, for Bobby is always there. Encouraging the pitcher behind the bat, chasing long foul flies and watching the runner with an eagle eye and deadly arm, he was the same "old Reliable." He wields a mean stick also, as his batting average of .500 shows and he received no more than he deserved when he was chosen Captain of the '23 baseball team.

"Bub" intends to enter Tuft's next fall. It seems unnecessary to wish you luck, "Bobby," because you cannot help but succeed; nevertheless here's to you from '23.

ARNO KUETTNER

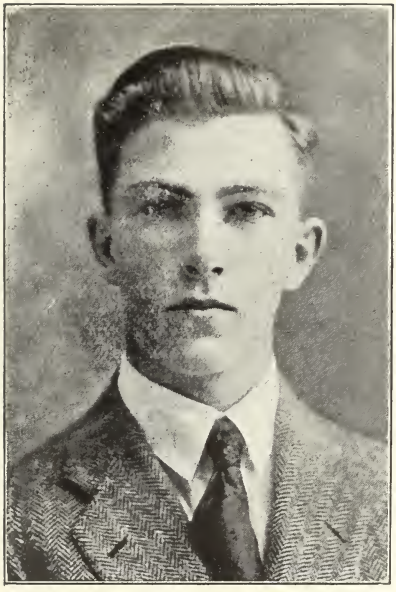
"Kit"

Basketball, 1, 4; Track, 1, 2, 3, 4
Techincal Course

Favorite Occupation: Track sports.
Favorite Expression: "Wise up."
Favorite Song: "Sheik of Alabama."
Favorite Drink: Benzoite of Soda.

One day, four years ago last September, at 7.50, when the janitor opened the H. S. doors, in walked a quiet, serious, bespectacled youth. He said little to any one but attended strictly to his own affairs. The same thing happened throughout the year until we had almost forgotten about him. Then the call for track candidates at last brought Arno into public notice. When he returned from the Wachusett League track meet, he had captured two first places and broken as many records in the Junior events. This success was not his last on the track, and in his Senior year, he startled us all by his basketball ability. His spectacular and accurate shots, together with his floor work, made him a great asset to the team.

Arno has a fine record as a careful and thorough student. He intends to enter Tuft's College of Dentistry. We know he will be successful in his chosen walk of life, and we wish him all the luck of '23.



WILLIAM JOSEPH PERRY

"Oliver H" "Bill"

Technical Course

Favorite Occupation: Selling Fruit.
Favorite Expression: Ah What d'ya mean.
Favorite Song: Yes We Have No Bananas To-Day.
Favorite Drink: Raspberry Lime.

"He wrapped his legs about him and settled down to peaceful study." Oh! isn't that cap the "honey" on Bill's head?

Bill is never seen in the company of the ladies. That is one feature which seems to stand out in Bill's High School days. However, this is no fault of Bill's, for he is naturally shy and timid. But this is but one side to Billy's story; aside from all this, he is certainly a wizard, and seems to possess a natural zeal for learning. We all admire Bill's concentrative power and undying love for his studies; and he seemed to love capturing testimonials as much as one does the first swim of the season.

"Oliver H" is very quiet indeed, but, as the "ol sayin'" goes, still waters run deep. Talking about deep things—Bill is real insistant in setting forth profound points on Milton, Shakespeare, and the rest of the English flock.

William is studying hard along technical lines, and we know he will persevere until he has reached the height of his ambition.

GERTRUDE IRENE McCONVILLE

"Gert, Ginger"

Dramatics, 1, 4; Senior Play; Class Day Committee; Student Staff, 1, 2; Class Ring Committees; Student Staff, 1, 2; Banquet Committee; A. A., 1, 2, 3, 4; Editorial Staff; Sophomore and Junior Dance Committee; Vice-President, 1.

College Course

Favorite Occupation: Caddying.
Favorite Expression: C'mon, let's go!
Favorite Song: "Dear little Boys, have I made you cry?"
Favorite Drink: Anything—if it has choc'late in it!

Boy, page the fellow who orginated the term "flapper" and send him right up here. He might have had some particular girl in mind when he created the word, but he certainly christened Gert McConville to a "t." Somehow or other, Gert and "flapper" have always been synonimous in our minds. With her breezy, carefree manner, her nonchalence and poise, her rapier-like wit, and he power of commanding, whatever situation she might be in, Gert is the living embodiment of the independent and self-reliant Miss who occupies so large a part in our current literature. (Minus, of course, the extravagance of the over-imaginative novelists.)

Gert says that she's going to be a journalist. Well, all that we can say is that Clare Sheridan had better resign. With such a girl as Ginger in the profession, she has no chance.

AUSTIN F. McNALLY

"Mac"

Dramatics 4; Senior Play; Baseball 2, 3, 4; Football 4.

College Course

Favorite Occupation: Concocting drinks.
Favorite Expression: Let's go!
Favorite Song: "Hot Lips"
Favorite Drink: Coffee Frappe.

Four short years ago a modest, bashful youth shyly entered the walls of C.H.S. For some months he trod the straight and narrow paths—a model youth. But one fine day, he was discovered by the "gang"—and who would now refer to Austie as a "model boy?" His innocent blue eyes, and handsome countenance so endeared him to one member of the faculty that she kept him with her, in the same subject, during his sojourn in C.H.S.; and we have also heard that she agreed to part with him forever only with the greatest reluctance! To any one who wonders at the large numbers of the fair sex which throng Moran's Drug Store, let it be whispered that Austie, in a becoming white coat, with his hair "slickumed" back, and his engaging smile, hands out "sweets to the sweet" there. Nuff said. Austy took leading parts in both of our Senior Plays and, by the way, played opposite a certain miss whom he delights in taking to banquets.

Austy is well liked by his classmates, and their good wishes go with him for whatever he shall do in the future. Farewell, and the best of luck, Austy!

ALICE FRANCES McNALLY

"Mac" "Al" "Al Mc Nal"

Senior Show; Junior Prom.

Commercial Course

Favorite Occupation: Trying to get home early Sunday Nights.
Favorite Expression: "Ain't Love Grand!"
Favorite Song: "Bobby!"
Favorite Drink: Carbolic Acid.

Mac is one of our most popular girls! She is a sure cure for the blues, and has never yet been known to let such trivial things as studies and teachers interfere with her ever active sense of humor. "Al" often has an attack of the "wonder lust" and her accounts of her wanderings in English 4 have proved far more interesting to us than the works of Milton or Goldsmith—but then, they never knew there was such a wonderful place as Fitchburg in the world!

"Al" is quite adept at tickling the ivories, and she was always willing to play for anyone who wished to try to trip the "light fantastic."

"Al" is planning to be a nurse—with a white cap n'everything! We see where that old favorite, "I Don't Want to Get Well" will soon be the most popular song out.—Good-bye, Alice, and the best of luck.

GERTRUDE TERESA McNAMARA

"Mac, Gert"

College Course

Favorite Occupation: Roaming.
Favorite Expression: "For heaven's sake!"
Favorite Song: "Leave me with a smile."
Favorite Drink: Ice Cream Sodas.

A rushing of footsteps, giggles ranging from low "G" to high "C" and lo!—enter Lizzy and Gert,—the inseparables. Always together, always smiling, here we have, truly, two of the best-natured girls in the school.

In all the years we have known Gert, we have never heard her utter a cross word, or seen her in a disagreeable mood. She loves to laugh, and in her enthusiasm, she makes others love it.

Gert always was on hand at every school function—and some others too! But—as Shakespeare says—"That's another story," "Mac" goes to Normal next fall. Good luck, and happy days, Gert!

AUGUSTINE FRANCIS MULLEN

"Gus" "Red"

Technical Course

Favorite Occupation: "Thinking."
Favorite Expression: Fish.
Favorite Song: That Red-Haired Gal.
Favorite Drink: Epsom Salts.

Our friend, Augustine, is certainly very bright both internal and external. Oh, who threw that brick? Ask Augustus and he'll tell you it's a red-headed one—To be sure, "Red" is of minimum stature, but who could miss him in a crowd? He's the main cheese of everything: probably that accounts for it, eh!

Can you ever forget the day "Red's" passions were put to the test? That day on which a number of boys emptied a bottle o' sweet (?) smelling perfume on his distinguished looking tresses and caused him to be as embarrassed as a peacock is proud. He enjoyed it at first, but the thoughts of remaining in his various classes, with the other students inhaling those precious scents, produced a different effect. He lived through it, and who knows if he did not "get back at them" for their mischievous deed.

Augustine's favorite subject is solid geometry, although he doesn't admit it. He claims he has to do considerable neck twisting to comprehend the figures. With such ability as he has, he is bound to be a success, and we may go as far as to say even with feminine class. Good luck, be yours, Gus!

MARY AGNES MULLEN

"Mulligan" "Mae"

Normal Course

Favorite Occupation: Curling her hair.
Favorite Expression: "I'm funny like that."
Favorite Song: "When I'm Gone You'll Soon Forget Me."
Favorite Drink: Ice Cream Soda.

Poets have written books, yes, and even volumes on the beautiful month of May. But, there are other Maes who are equally beautiful, dear friends. Just look at that cute little bob, irresistible smile.

And as for being popular—well we'll say she is. Mary's charming ways have her hosts of friends in all the classes; and we have never known "Mulligan" to dislike anyone or anything.

Mae is a snappy little dresser; she loves to "read between the lines" of FASHIONS, perhaps this accounts for her classiness.

Can you imagine Mae being a teacher? Now, Mae, Dan Cupid wears spectacles when in doubt, so don't think you'll be overlooked.

While Mary pursues over her studies, she is very quiet; yes, extremely so. But when her day's work has come to an end, she can laugh and joke as hearty as a jester.

The class of '23 wish Mulligan the best of luck for the future to come.

VIOLA BERCHMAN MURRMAN

"Vi, Bylow, Wily"

Normal Course

Favorite Occupation: Helping deliver orders.
Favorite Expression: "Oh! You know how 'tis."
Favorite Song: "Good-bye Girls, I'm Through!"
Favorite Drink: Ice-Cream Sodas! ! !

An engagingly plump girl, pretty, and as good-natured as they make 'em is Viola. We all like her. Searching our four year accumulated experience of Viola, we can find nothing but good things—and that can be said of very few of the rest of us. Doing favors is her sport, and her great popularity can be traced directly to that point. Viola was just picked out for the nursing profession and—well, she'll succeed. That's sure! ! !

CLEMENCE ADAM NEUBAUER

"Mence, Adam"

Technical Course

Favorite Occupation: Touring.
Favorite Expression: "What d'y want?"
Favorite Song: "I Wish I was in Dixie."
Favorite Drink: Cream.

And who belongs to this picture? None other than Clemence Adam Neubauer. "Mence" was always very studious, yet always with a pleasant smile. He has devoted himself to his studies, and that's why he got his testimonials. Brains are no indication of size or else he would assume gigantic stature. Clemence spends his leisure time perusing the latest magazines and very frequently attending the "movies".

Throughout his high school career, Mence has showed more inclination for technical and mechanical subjects. If names mean anything, Adam ought to be one of our first men. No doubt, that in the annals of Worcester Tech. in years to come, they will boast Mr. Neubauer, Civil Engineer.

THOMAS JOSEPH O'DONNELL

"Donnie" "Don"

College Course

Favorite Occupation: Knocking "Luck."
Favorite Expression: Jump in the Sink.
Favorite Song: Three O'clock in the Morning.
Favorite Drink: Chocolate Milk Shake.

"Tommy" is quite notorious for either coming in late, or for slipping out early. He doesn't seem to tax himself with study—no I should say not, but he comes out with some very clever answers in class. "Tommy," for that is how we best know him, is not prominent socially but he has always a smile and a noisy greeting for any of his numerous lady friends.

"Snubs" is a sport, not in athletics, although it must take considerable endurance to keep chalking a cue for several hours, but when it comes to pool—you'll have to hand it to him. "Tommy" is going in search of higher learning at Holy Cross. Whether he finds it or not, is another question.

ANNA PATRICIA O'MALLEY

"Blondie, Annie"

Normal Course

Favorite Occupation: Swimming.
Favorite Expression: "Oh, say!"
Favorite Song: "Tootsie."
Favorite Drink: Grape Juice.

There was a shy, bashful maiden in our class—Annie O'Malley—a demure belle. But her high school days have cured her of her timidness, and now we find her blushing over her blunders.

Ann always tried to surpass her brother in Latin, and after many useless attempts, she was surprised one quarter when she discovered that success was hers. That was a quarter of hard work, but the outcome was profitable.

Blondie wishes to attend Fitchburg Normal, where she can be with the rest of our number who are to enroll there. In every action she attempts, she is faithful and conscientious, so that we are sure she will make a fine teacher.

PETER JAMES O'MALLEY

"Peaches"

College Course

Favorite Occupation: Reading.

Favorite Expression: "Rowdidow."

Favorite Song: "Tomorrow."

Favorite Drink: H 2 O.

Our class ballot marks friend Peter as being the quietest fellow in the class, and he is particularly shy towards us girls. Yet among the boys, this bit of characterization is only an hallucination 'cause "Pete" is a "regular guy" in their company.

It didn't take "Peaches" long to show his ability as a scholar. If you are ever in search of a friend to help you puzzle out some of Mr. Hugos tricky passages, just call on Pete, and your quest will not be in vain.

Peaches tells us that his destination is Holy Cross where he has the intention to develop his talents to the fullest extend. (and we know he can do it).

So Peter, from 1923, you have the best wishes for success and prosperity.

EDWARD FARNHAM OSGOOD

"Skinny"

Manager of Football Team; Editorial Staff.

College Course

Favorite Occupation: Horse-back riding.
Favorite Expression: That's the berries.
Favorite Song: Locked in the stable with the sheep.
Favorite Drink: Chocolate Float.

Long and lean, and with a dry and cutting humor, Edward Farnham Osgood has wended his way through High School in a manner which has done nothing to create any ill-feeling either on the part of faculty or students. While usually quiet enough in class, Farnham's propensity for placing his own ofttimes rather lurid interpretations to some disputed Latin passage to the horror of "Teacher" and the immense and shrieking mirth of the class has shown us that he has an imagination worthy of a movie sub-title writer. Skinny is by no means lacking in wit, and this, along with his gift of good personality, has endeared him to our hearts. As football manager, he was very efficient always picking teams that Clinton High could "lick" with only a slip up here and there. Altogether he is a charming boy, likable, and one who will surely make his mark.

AUSTIN JOSEPH O'TOOLE

"Bunsen" "Austie"

Class Day Committee; Announcements Committee

Technical Course

Favorite Occupation: Running.
Favorite Expression: "That's me."
Favorite Drink: Red Ink.

"Who is the quiet, good-looking chap, over there, deeply absorbed in studying solid geometry?" "Oh! That's Austy O'Toole, but haven't you made a mistake? He is reading "Life" instead of geometry, and if you think he is quiet, just visit one of Miss Kent's classes some day. Let me give an example—(Miss Kent has just explained the principle of variables and limits) Miss Kent—"Now, O'Toole, if a man falls from the top of the Carpet Mill chimney, what, in his descent to the ground, will be the variable, and what will be the limit?"

O'Toole—"That's simple enough. The man is the variable and the ground is the limit."

Although Austy's homeward progress is usually unencumbered by such burdensome articles as books, he always manages to pull through the year without an overabundance of those famous little white cards issued monthly.

W. P. I. is Bunsen's destination. We know he will be successful in his chosen profession and win many friends as he has done in C. H. S. Farewell! And may the luck of 1923 go with you, Austy.

CHARLES FRANCIS O'TOOLE

"Pi-wi"

Technical Course.

Favorite Occupation: Agent for self-starting sausage grinders.
Favorite Expression: "Try and get it."
Favorite Song: "Running Wild."
Favorite Drink: Concentrated essence of Stove-Polish.

Small, but very important, with as keen a wit as any one in the Senior class, and brains that far excell his physical appearance, Pi-wi stands among the "high lights" (on a low pedestal).

We see that his method of spending leisure time is "selling bird seed for cuckoo-clock" and when we hear that he was severely punished for holding up "Luch" in the upper hall, the other day, we don't wonder that he got bids from the three leading circuses to be their clown, strong man, and chief animal trainer. We doubt, however, if he will fill this job, although he would be well recompensed, and well able to.

Whether he becomes a photographer, lion tamer, or President of the United States, we know that he will be the best in his line.

Here's luck to you, Pi-wi, C.H.S. '23 will always be for you, and with you.

GEORGE EDWARD O'TOOLE

"Shaker"

Foot-ball Team.

Technical Course

Favorite Occupation: Selling Saturday Evening Posts.
Favorite Expression: "Let's go."
Favorite Song: "Barney Google."
Favorite Drink: Strawberry milk.

Now watch that four ball over there. Here's where we make a cleanup, boys! Where, when and how do we hear these words? "Why" don't you know "Shaker" O'Toole? "Nuff said!"

You mustn't get the impression however that "Shaker" spends all his time chalking up. If he did not spend considerable time on his lessons, he would not be receiving his diploma with us at the tender age of sixteen.

"Shaker's" first debut as an athlete was made on the football field, and he was some little quarter back we'll tell the world.

George's destination is W. P. I. May the best of luck and wishes of '23 attend you wherever you go, "Shaker."

MARGARET O'TOOLE

"Fatty" "Tubby" "Peggy" "Marg"

Commercial Course

Favorite Occupation: Roaming Around.
Favorite Expression: "Oh! Gee Whiz!"
Favorite Song: "My Buddy."
Favorite Drink: Champagne.

One memorable day, "Marg" roamed into High School, carefree without a worry, taking her time, and laughing. In just this manner, she has roamed, or rather rolled, through the succeeding four years.

"Pegg's" one complaint, during Senior year was the fact that the town would not install elevators from the gym to the Assembly Hall. For let us here say, that "Marg's" dimensions have earned for her such nicknames as "Fatty" and "tubby," and the numerous flights of stairs taxed her breathing powers to the utmost.

Always good-natured, "Peg" is certainly a living example of that much quoted phrase—"Laugh and the world laughs with you," for whenever or wherever, she appears, she carries in her wake an epidemic of fun and laughter which no one can resist.

As yet, Marg hasn't decided what she will do next year, but we know from our association with her, in the past, that she will certainly succeed.

ELIZABETH MARY MAITLAND

"Bessie"

Basketball, 4; Senior Play

Commercial Course

Favorite Occupation: Writing notes to Sylvia.
Favorite Expression: "Oh Sivie!"
Favorite Song: "I wonder if you'll miss me when I'm gone."
Favorite Drink: Scotch Irish.

"Yo-o-o-o-o Ho-o-o!" (friends, don't mistake that for the Anvil Chorus) as it was just a reminder of the mornings when Sylvia called for Bessie at 8.10 a.m.

Bessie is one our exceptionally studious classmates, completing her studies in three years. Bessie is also clever along the dramatic line, as was shown by her characterization of a chorus girl in the Senior show.

Our Bess loves night-strolling; of course we don't mean to insinuate that she is unaccompanied on these mid-night walks. "On with the dance."—Bessie just loves to dance, provided affectionate positions are taken.

Bessie is a real "out-of-doors" girl, specializing in basketball. And Bessie isn't going to stop at this point, as she intends to devote her future to the encouragement of Physical Culture, studying at the New Haven School of Physical Education. The Class of 1923 wish her the best of luck in this worthy enterprise.

INA LYDIA PICKELS

"Giggles" "Snookums" "Lefty"

Junior Prom Committee; Baseball, 3; Basketball, 4

Commercial Course

Favorite Occupation: Whispering.
Favorite Expression: Aw! Shipwreck!
Favorite Song: "You Tell 'Em I Stutter."
Favorite Drink: Grape Juice with Champagne.

It is not essential to introduce to you the most sarcastic young lady of our class. Did you say you do not recognize her? Or haven't even met her before? Then it's time for you to act, for you don't know what you're missing. And you may ask, "Who is she?" To be frank, she is the 1923 vamp—Ina Pickels.

"Snookums" is inclined to be somewhat of an athlete for she plays basketball and baseball, spends considerable time in hiking, and is some fast walker—"Speed" is what she ought to get a "C" for. Have you ever tried walking with her? If you have, then you know how hard it is to keep up with her; but if you haven't, then it's a case of "try and do it."

Giggles cannot seem to make up her mind as to what she intends to do in the future; the reason may be that she is too busy vamping a certain young waiter in a certain restaurant. The conclusions we draw are: that she will become a waitress and with her experience in "making goo-goo eyes" she may easily entice him to become a victim of her charms.

It is the wish of her classmates that her profession may prove congenial to her.

DOROTHY EMMELINE SAWYER

"Dot" "Dotty"

Glee Club. 4: Mandolin Club. 2

Commercial Course

Favorite Occupation: Knitting.
Favorite Expression: "My Soul."
Favorite Song: "I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Palaces."
Favorite Drink: Chocolate Frappe.

Dorothy is that quiet little lady who has always greeted us with a winning smile when ever we have encountered her either in school or out of it. "Dot" is one of the standbyes when it comes to knowing her lessons, and we have never known her to fail or slip up on an important question. Steady and reliable—that's "Dot". Will she not succeed? Will she not succeed? Nothing surer.

MARY PATRICIA REILLY

"Mae" "Pat" "Merry"

Hiking Club; Glee Club, 4; Class Day Committee.

Normal Course

Favorite Occupation: Studying Geometry.
Favorite Expression: "Not Really."
Favorite Song: "Just a Little Love Song."
Favorite Drink: Vinum cum Aqua malorum.

From whence proceeds all the noise in the rear? Surely it is no one but our classmate "Mae" disputing with her nearest neighbor over the "R" book. And Listen, friends, Mae is right there on that Daniel Webster stuff, and you can't disturb her train of thought once she has decided upon anything; get her started, and she'll tell you how the war began.

From this, let us not conclude that our "Pat" is a strict convertist by nature, for you are in jolly company if you pal around with "Mae." She is bright and cheerful in disposition an dexceedingly fond of excitement. Oh yes, we met her the other night—but that would be telling. She has a twin sister who usually responds when we call. "Oh Mae!" You've probably met her at the beginning of our family tree.

"Mae" is undecided as to just what her vocation will be; but we are certain that success awaits her, especially should she direct her steps, at some future day, toward Congress and enjoin her forces with the irreconcilable Borah.

*ANNA ELIZABETH ROCKEL

"Annabelle"

Commercial Course

Favorite Occupation: Fancy Work:
Favorite Expression: "Oh Fish!"
Favorite Song: "I Gave You Up Before You Threw Me Down."
Favorite Drink: Strawberry Ice Cream Soda.

Anna has been voted the "man hater" of the class, but, judging from various rumors, we are inclined to think otherwise. Always diligent, conscientious and hard working, she has often saved many of us from getting just one zero too many. Anna shares the title of "The quietest and most demure member of the class with Christine. Perhaps a good title to hold, for she has always succeeded in keeping herself out of mischief, which most of the others would like to do, but can not.

Will we ever forget that memorable time Anna forgot (?) to report to a certain "petite" teacher of our acquaintance and as a reward received a short vacation? But let's let bygones be bygones, for it had never happened before and never will again.

Anna has not decided as yet what she will do next year, but we are sure that whatever it may be she will succeed.

"Good luck and happy days, Anna!"

MILDRED MYRA RUEGER

"Millie" "Lanky" "Billy"

Commercial Course

Favorite Occupation: Proving trial balances.
Favorite Expression: "Well Listen!"
Favorite Song: "Pal of Mine."
Favorite Drink: Ginger Ale.

Mildred and we have always been the best of friends, much to our advantage. Rather quiet, and very proper and efficient, she has gone through School minus the troubles and distress which have disturbed so many of us. But this fact has not made Mildred conceited or narrow-mindeed. Far from it. She has always been only too ready to lend us a sympathetic ear, and has always been a valiant friend to us in time of need. Thank you, Mildred, and may Fortune smile on you with kindly eyes.

ELIZABETH RITA SAVAGE

"Liz" "Beth" "Lizzie"

Class Day Committee.

College Course

Favorite Occupation: Roaming.
Favorite Expression: "Holy Pat."
Favorite Song: "Wearing of the Green."
Favorite Drink: Scotch Irish.

Elizabeth is a true type of the auburn haired miss whom poets and artists delight in depicting. She has a calm, serious air that is very misleading, for "Lizabeth" is sure to be the center of attraction wherever she is! Her jokes and impersonations (especially of the teachers) are the causes of many of the mirthful sounds that issue from the assembly hall at recess.

Elizabeth always managed to ge along famously in school. If there was anything that she was doubtful of, she just smiled with disarming innocence and punctuated her recitation(?) with "I think's" and " You know's"—and we have yet to meet the teacher who would be cruel enough to even insinuate that "Lizabeth" "thought" wrongly, or be truthful enough to admit that she didn't know!

Elizabeth is going to be a nurse, and we wish to be known as the first ones to predict the epidemic of "heart trouble" which will soon sweep over the city of Worcester! Success and good luck await you, "Lisbeth."

IRENE SAWTELLE

"Reney"

Normal Course

Favorite Occupation: Attending Church Socials.
Favorite Expression: "Keep Smiling."
Favorite Song: "At Dawning."
Favorite Drink: Chocolate Frappe.

In Irene, we have about the most equable and even-tempered pupil of us all. When we first encountered Irene in Freshman year, we were extremely afraid of her; her stately bearing and cool demaner proving just a little too much for our youthful natures to assimilate. But as soon as Irene had given us a glimpse of that sunny and inimitable smile of hers—that was all "off." Closer acquaintance has proven "Reney's" real worth to us, and her easy manner of accepting the rebuffs and trials of scholastic Fate, and of overlooking or ignoring our occasional lapses, and little foibles and weaknesses, have won our hearts completely. It is with sincere wishes for the future that we leave her on the threshold of life. Here's to Irene—may she never know sorrow or regret.

EDWARD JOSEPH PHILBIN

"Ebbie"

Football, 4

College Course

Favorite Occupation: Stalling the Lizzie.
Favorite Expression: "Got any Money?"
Favorite Song: You Tell 'Em Ivories.
Favorite Drink: Chocolate Frappe.

Gaze upon the bane of existence of the C. H. S. Faculty! Ebbie was the instigator of all the mischief for the past four years, whether it was indulging in eraser fights, or hanging banners—but somehow, that combination of a mischievous twinkle and pleading look in his merry grey eyes, softened the hearts of the long-suffering teachers, and Ebbie is still with us!

Although they had to put an extra mail-man on the route, the first of every month, on his account, Ebbie never lost his optimistic, peptimistic and also decorative smile! Ebbie was always willing to try anything once—which may account for his variety of girls!

"Philbi's" good habits would stretch from here to the North Pole he doesn't smoke, swear, crib, or bluff. If he did, he would fall away in the good graces of—oh, you know whom we mean. Phil was ever a reliant friend, a trim pal, and a steady classmate, the summary of his four years in C. H. S. could be contained in one short sentence: "He was one good sport."

ARIEL AGUSTUS SHEPHERDSON

"Sheppie"

College Course

Favorite Occupation: Farming.
Favorite Expression: O Gee.
Favorite Song: When the boys come Marching Home.
Favorite Drink: Home Brew.

Ariel has always reminded us of a poem. Now—whoa! there girls! Don't get excited! It's his name we mean, not Ariel himself. You remember that touching poem "Ariel to Miranda?" Of course you do. That explains our topic statement. Ariel has that strange and unusual habit of always having his work done and has always shown an enjoyingly obliging disposition to lead us through the intricacies of some unusually tough mathematical propesition. Here's now Ariel. We thank you.

MARION FULLER STOWERS

"Freddy"

Glee Club, 1. 2. 3, 4

Commercial Course

Favorite Occupation: Driving the Nash around Somerville!
Favorite Expression: "My word."
Favorite Song: "Adoration."
Favorite Drink: Chocolate Frappe.

Marion, the song-bird of our class, was also the savior of our class during many a trying Glee Club "struggle". Oft in the Assembly Hall did our weak and faltering voices rally, at least within an octave of the pitch, when we heard "Freddy" reaching high "K" without the slightest effort.

Freddy's recitations in U. S. History were always very much enjoyed. Her "positiveness" was both a source of envy and amusement to us. But, unfortunately she was sure to spy from the lofty platform some of her many friends, and, being sociably inclined she returned their friendly smiles—and, a few minutes later, invariably "returned" to her seat.

Marion intends to study Music next year. We hear that she already has one pupil who has made remarkable progress in more than music. But we feel sure that some day in the not far distant future, we'll be buying Victrola records of famous operas sung by "Our Marion."

SUSIE ELIZABETH SULLIVAN

"Sue" "Red" "Sully" "Carrots"

Commercial Course

Favorite Occupation: Telling Jokes.
Favorite Expression: "Hay Listen."
Favorite Song: "Way Down Yonder in New Orleans."

Favorite Drink: Sarsaparilla.

The quality that makes Sue different from every other member of our class is her genius in the line of telling jokes. Jokes, yes, Jokes! She is almost unsurpassed in this profession, and confesses that the more listeners she has, the more she enjoys springing them.

Because of her auburn locks, she has acquired such surnames as "Red" and "Carrots." She cares not who calls her by such appellations, even though it is a bore, but goes through it with a smile. Sue may be seen going home from school with a newspaper in one hand, a friend grasping the other, tripping along and humming tunes of the latest songs.

She has not yet decided where she is to go next year, but she is inclined to do something which is easy, good when it is done, but which no other person can do. She has no rivals in this station. Good luck is sure to follow our blue-eyed Susan.

MYRTLE SPIELVOGEL

"Myrt" "Brownie" "Speedie"

Commercial Course

Favorite Occupation: Stringing the bunch.
Favorite Expression: "Oh, you lemon."
Favorite Song: "Put your Arms Around me Honey, Hold me Tight"
Favorite Drink: Castor Oil.

Myrtle is Ethel's sister—a tall, willowy young lady, whose prettiness and personality are factors which have won for her a great deal of popularity. Everyone likes her—teachers and pupils alike. Her record, like Ethel's is of the best and if brains were money, as the saying goes, Myrtle would be a very wealthy girl. She will succeed in after life, that is certain.

ETHEL SPIELVOGEL

"Blondie"

College Course.

Favorite Occupation: Moonlight Strolls.
Favorite Expression: Oh, Gosh! Make it snappy!
Favorite Song: "Gee, but I hate to go Home alone."
Favorite Drink: Olive Oil.

Ethel is that engagingly plump young blonde who is seldom seen minus her sunny smile, and whose good-nature is proverbial with all of us. Full of humor, and ever ready to cheer us when we are downhearted, she has won a deserved place in our hearts, and will always exist as a sweet memory. Her record at school is of the highest, and it is assured to her that Success in after life is just ahead. May she win it. That is our wish.

CHRISTINE MARY TANZI

"Chris, Christy"

Commercial Course

Favorite Occupation: Paying nickels to the Worcester Consolidated.

Favorite Expression: "Well of all the nerve!"

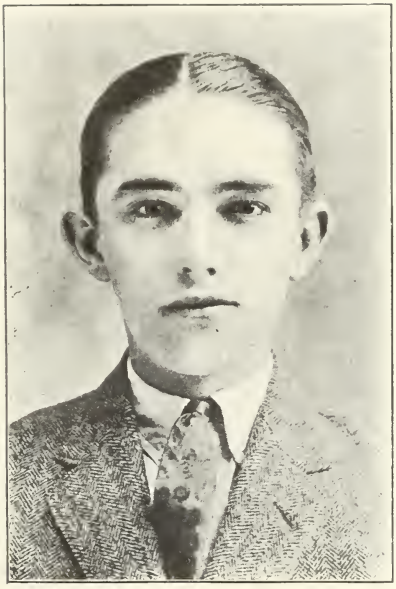
Favorite Song: "Why Should I Cry Over You."

Favorite Drink: Ginger.

Christy is one of the petite members of our class who believes that "silence is golden;" probably that accounts for her continual excellence in deportment. Yet she is always willing to answer any questions that are whispered to her in class without incurring the watchfulness of her teachers. At times, we are apt to forget her presence; but that is only during class periods, for outside, she is a regular girl.

Dreams, sweet dreams! Our Chris spends her leisure time in dreaming of future days; and as pleasure is taken out of pleasant things, we are certain her dreams must be both delightful and profitable. Maybe she has visions of an auto ride she is soon to enjoy, eh!

Of the numerous positions which are open to a C. H. S. graduate, Christine has selected that of a private secretary. May she succeed in all her undertakings.



HENRY EDWARD TIERNEY

Commercial Course

Favorite Occupation: Swimming.
Favorite Expression: "Cut it out."
Favorite Song: "Ma He's Making Eyes at Me."
Favorite Drink: Milk.

Henry is a very quiet lad at intervals, and at other times—well look out—it's hard telling what he wouldn't do, not saying he would do anything intrinsically irrational, for we know Henry better than that: but then he isn't slow by any means. Henry's out for everything he can get out of this old world, and he certainly gets it.

Have you ever danced with Henry? You don't know what you have missed if you haven't: he's certainly light on your feet. And did you ever notice the merry twinkle in his eyes, mystically veiled by marvelous eyelashes? (apply for a Maybelline treatment.)

But all fooling aside, Henry's future is, without a doubt going to be very bright, for wherever he goes he is sure to make hosts of friends. So with this future, and the best wishes of old High, you are bound to succeed, Henry, old top.

ANNA ELIZABETH TRAVERS

"Ann" "Smiles" "Georgi-Ann"

Commercial Course

Favorite Occupation: Studying up on Fords.
Favorite Expression: "No skidding?"
Favorite Song: "And the little old Ford just rattled right along."
Favorite Drink: Pink Tea.

"Pretty Ann, Mistress Ann, how does your graden grow? But to be modern Pretty Ann, Mistress Ann, how rides Henry Ford? With a jounce and a jostle now and then to be sure, but what fun to ride in!

Ann entered Clinton High as a demure little Freshie, but as the years rolled by, she parted friendship with old Rip Van Wrinkle and became alive and up to the minute.

As in the case with some of our noble Seniors, studies held no horrors for Ann. She just skidded along and was happy just the same: yet sometimes, the cause of her deserting her studies was a certain Pain—e. Ann is trying to tell us that she is recuperating from that affliction; but, my dear, we credit ourselves at least with the ability to perceive the obvious. Nothing skips by unnoticed by a few of our Pathe scholars, who tell us of her frequent strolls on the upper corridor in the neighborhood of Room 6 where what appears to be serious consultations are held daily. We're on to your pranks, ma cherie!

Ann specializes in business subjects and intends to enter Becker's Business College next year. So to you, Ann, from your classmates of 1923, goes the wish for your success in the commercial world.

THEODORE JOSEPH TURCOTTE

"Soupy" "Ted"

Dramatics, 1, 2, 3, 4; Senior Show.

Special Course

Favorite Occupation: Making a White Lather.
Favorite Expression: "Buy a Rope."
Favorite Song: "My Wild Irish Rose."
Favorite Drink: Danderine.

Now here is "Soupy" Turcotte, one of the best terpsichorean artists of the class. He admits to being somewhat of a vocalist, but it is a question as to whether his classmates would so agree. "Ted" is a past master in the tonsorial art, either actively or passively.

As a thespian he is a leader. In all our plays he has contributed much to their success, frequently portraying older roles with unusual ability. He would have done better if he'd have come on time to rehearsals, but he was habitually tardy owing to his accustomed Sunday evening diversion in White Court. Girls are "Soupy's" hobby. He never misses a dance, or a party where there is a possibility of meeting a certain beautiful blonde—nor does he ever overlook a chance to land in with her family.

"Soupy" is popular not only with the girls, but also with the boys with whom he is quite intimate. He is a good scholar when he works, but he works so seldom that we wonder if he is a good scholar for a very long time at once. No kidding, he practically supports "Live Stories" which really aren't half live enough for "Soupy."

SYLVIA MARIE WILSON

"Sivvy" "Spit"

Basket-ball, 4; Operetta; Senior Show; Glee Club, 4; Athletic Association; Mandolin Club.

Commercial Course

Favorite Occupation: Making Excuses.
Favorite Expression: "Oh Heck."
Favorite Song: "Lovin' Sam."
Favorite Drink: Scotch Irish.

"Sivvy" is a new addition to our class, and a very pleasant one, too. She decided to show the rest of us up and complete our four year course in three; and she has done it.

Who will ever forget "Mabel", as our slangy chorus girl in "Nothing but the Truth?" No one, I'm sure, who saw the play, for she certainly is some actress.

Sylvia was always in the front row of the cheering squad at the football games, and attended the home baseball games without fail.

"Sliver" always takes her time, and is often surprised to find, upon arriving at school, that the tardy bell has been inconsiderate enough to have rung before she manages to "make the Assembly Hall." But "Siv" is also adept in the art of making excuses and usually comes out on top.

"Sivvy's destination is Normal School, and though we can't imagine her teaching the three "R's".—"nothing is impossible." Au revoir, Sivvy, and the best of luck.

ISABELL SILVER WINDLE

"Izzy, Windy, Toreador, Isadorus"

Secretary of Class, 4; Assistant Editor-in-Chief of Class Book, Glee Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Operetta, 3; Secretary of Glee Club, 4; Banquet Committee; Student Staff

Commercial Course

Favorite Occupation: Breezing around!
Favorite Expression: "Keep Smiling."
Favorite Song:

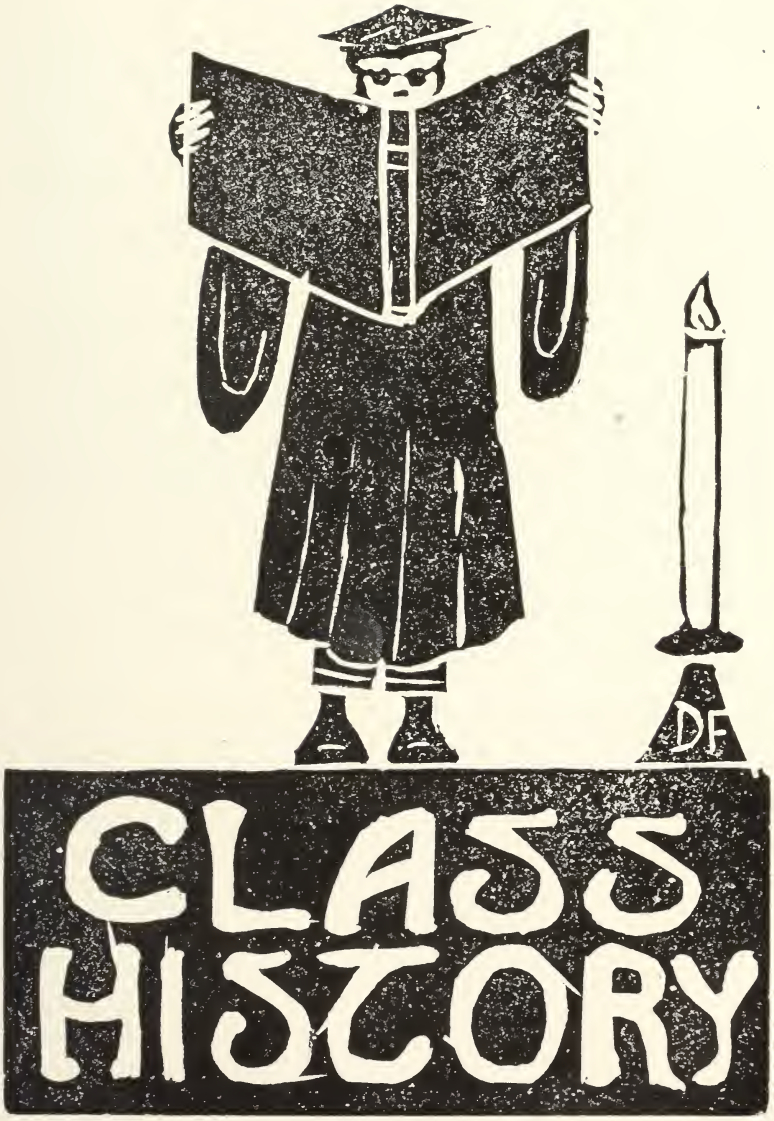
He may be your Man, but he comes to see me sometimes.

Favorite Drink: Coffee Frappe.

Isabell is the brains of our class. Starting with the very first quarter of Freshman year, through Sophomore, Junior and Senior years, Izzy has swept everything before her in the line of marks. So universally successful have been her efforts in all subjects, that it is safe to surmise that, on graduating, her average will be one that has been rarely equalled. We took French with Isabell for two years, and the way she rattled out those sentences and phrases was breath-taking, and far too much for our limited powers of comprehension. Believe us, she was "there." And as she was in French, so was she in all subjects. Along with her scholastic ability,

Business is claiming Isabell, and if her school was any criterion of her business ability, Morgan, Rockefeller, and the rest, had better look to these laurels.

The time has come for parting,
The opened page is bare;
Our real lives are starting,
And we must write them there.
The trumpet-call is sounding,
The lists of Life await—
But still we sigh, dear Clinton High
And linger at your gate.
But louder sounds the calling
Of life, and we must go,
And brush the tears that are falling
From eyes that sorrow know.
For teachers, friends, who taught us
The things that we should do
For joys and woes that each heart knows,
Oh, Clinton High, for you!
Good-bye to Clinton High School
Farewell High School days,
All too swift your days have fled.
And sterner tasks are still ahead;
And though the doors are closing slow
On hours of joy we knew,
Yet through the dawn of future years,
We'll all remember you.



DF
CLASS HISTORY

FRESHMAN YEAR

In September 1919, the class of 1923 took up the labored contest for High School diplomas. We numbered about 150. Our new teachers and principal proffered much heeded advice and counsel to each and all of us, and we were very determined to be diligent and attentive.

In union there is strength so we decided to incorporate with the following officers: President, John McGrath; Vice president, Gertrude McConville; Secretary, Isabelle Eawrt; and Treasurer, Edward Philbin.

It would not do to relate here all the activities of our Freshman year. Take it for granted, we took an active part in all affairs, our own, or anybody else's. Our paramount concern was "The Pride of the Family" which we offered in competition with the other acts for the benefit of the A.A. Our Freshman year came to a rapid close and we departed only to return in the fall to enter upon our * * * *

SOPHOMORE YEAR

In the fall of 1920, the number in our class was diminished. There were many changes in the faculty. The position of Miss Elizabeth Fury was taken by Miss Elen K. Stevens. Miss Ellen Small came here as a result of Miss Hartford's transfer. During the year, Mr. Jordan folded his tent and pulled up the last stakes of his High School connection. After many variables which nearly reached the limit, Miss Margaret B. O'Neil succeeded in his position. Miss Mildred A. Smith and Mr. Roland B. Houston succeeded Miss Edith Whitney and Mr. John J. Howard, respectively, as special drawing instructors.

As Sophomores, we felt so very important that we held a meeting early in the year. The following were elected: President, Lester Dyer; Vice-president, Lillian Craig; Treasurer, Edward Philbin; Secretary, Helen Devaney. We voted that our class colors should be purple and gold. We also instructed a committee to purchase suitable class rings.

Our first annual dance was held in Pierce Hall, socially if not financially, successful. When the competitive system of ticket selling was inaugurated by Mr. Cobb, our class came forward, and looking back upon the contest we congratulate ourselves, the winner. That year the plays were portrayed under the 1923 banner. "Miss Civilization" was our offering. After a successful Sophomore year we enter upon our * * * *

JUNIOR YEAR

Again we returned to school, this time as Juniors. And again, we found the class decreased, and changes in the faculty. Our French teacher, Miss Margarite McKelliget, entered the faculty at Worcester Normal, and Miss Marie Gibbons was appointed her successor. Mr. Nuedorf removed to Cambridge, and Mr. Joseph McCaffrey was added to the faculty with the position of boys' physical training director. Miss Mary T. Gibbons was appointed physical director for girls.

Early in September, a meeting was called during which, after much discussion, the following were elected: President, Lester Dyer; Vice president, Lilian Craig; Treasurer, Clinton Gallagher; Secretary, Helen Devaney. The next month, our second meeting dealt with our second annual dance. The committee in charge engaged Pierce Hall and Flanagan's orchestra for dancing.

In April, the Operetta, "O Hara San," was presented instead of the accustomed inter-class dramatics. Owing to the vocal ability of many of our classmates, under the direction of Miss Martha Linton, the presentation was quite well done.

The first of June, plans were begun for the annual Junior Prom, the climax of our social endeavors. A reception and decoration committee were appointed. The Town Hall was engaged for the 29th of June. Walter Johnson's orchestra furnished music. Although this event was our largest undertaking, the Prom was successful. We pause and look back upon the effective events of the year, and it is with a more sophisticated attitude that we pursue our studies in our * * *

SENIOR YEAR

Dignity personified! Impressive sedateness! Pretenses made to withdraw from observation all impressions of our former puerility, for we have at last culminated our careers—our mantles of Seniority await us and yet we hesitate to don them. For with them comes the realization that that far-off and awe-inspiring date, which seemed so distant to us as timid Freshmen, is fast approaching, and we must make our adieus. At last, it was possible for us to part company with the riotous populace which throngs the lower corridors and retire to our Assembly Hall, although, sad to relate, a portion of our members were placed under the obligation of gracing Room 5.

At the first meeting of the class, the following officers were elected: Joseph Goodwin, president; Helen Devaney, vice-president; Isabell Windle, secretary; Paul Kittredge, treasurer.

December 26th, the Seniors presented their class play, "Nothing but the Truth," a farcial comedy in three acts. The acting was highly creditable to the players, and without a doubt it was appreciated to its fullest merit. As ever, we lay willingly the laurels of our success at the feet of our capable coach and friend, "Doc." In the Inter-Class Dramatics, judges were appointed to determine the outcome of the plays. Of course, we Seniors were the fortunate ones to carry off the banner at both of the evening performances with our "Sauce for the Goslings." Our reward was the coveted privilege of having our numerals engraved on the dramatic cup.

This year, as the time was nearing Class Day, all doubt and difficulty concerning the flying of our class banners, was done away with by a provision made by our principal, Mr. Cobb. An inter-class relay race was held at the driving park, the wining class to be accorded with the honor of having its banner in place. We Seniors won, having, apparently, the better athletes. Only another honor added to our glories!

How swiftly the wings of time fly! Four long years of all our little successes and failures in high school life will soon belong to the past—a whole chapter of our lives will soon be at an end. Yet the possession of our new freedom is not entirely alloyed with happiness Mingled with it is a tinge of sadness which comes when all good friends must part and live their lives in regions which are remote from each other.

And the Class of '23 before stepping into the joyous chaos of commencement time, extends to C.H.S. its keen appreciation of the training it has received.

Gentleman Joe ..... John McGrath
Grand Stand Harry ..... Lester Dyer
Policeman ..... Herbert Morangue

"Gentleman Joe," "Reddy, the Kid," and "Grand Stand Harry," are apprehended burglarizing the summer home of James K. Gardner, on the night after Christmas, but his daughter Alice, whose pluck and cleverness in handling the situation, wins for herself the name "Miss Civilization."

Alice, stalling so that the police may arrive in time, gives orders for a Christmas lunch, from the chair where "Reddy" has tied her.

After securing the sway, the burglars prepare to go, but on the nick of time, Captain Lucas, Chief of Police, and his men enter and take "the gang" into custody, while Miss Civilization, overcome by mental and physical fatigue, sinks into a state of insensibility.

O HARA SAN

The faculty decided that for the year of 1922 an operetta entitled O Hara San should be presented to the public for the benefit of the Athletic Association instead of the individual plays presented by the classes. The cast was composed of the members of the four classes, the above cast representing Seniors only.

The plot runs as follows: The scene of the story was laid in a Japanese garden at dusk. The traditional cherry trees, Japanese ferns and wisteria blossoms greatly enhanced its beauty. The plot was woven about O Hara San, the only child of Samuria Kanava, who has fallen in love with O Kashi Kintara, a young student. He seeks her hand in marriage, finds that she returns his love, and then consults with Kanays who agrees to theis marriage on the condition that it takes place in a year's time. O Kashi Kintara leaves Japan to study in America, and remains away almost a year. In the meantime, Prince Nashimoto Fushimi seeks O Hara San's hand and Kanaya agrees to his suit if O Kashi Kintara does not return within the year. Just as O Hara San has made tearful preparations to marry the old Prince, her lover returns at the last moment, he having been delayed.

All of the principals admirably portrayed the characters assigned them. The singing throughout the operetta, directed by Miss Martha Linton, teacher of music in the public schools was excellent. All dancing was in charge of Mrs. E. J. Jones, the special dance by Miss Craig in the "Geisha Song" showing careful training.

The cast was directed by Lewis S. Gordon, Jr. Mr. Gordon selected the play, and gave freely of his time for rehearsals, and was entirely deserving of congratulations which were showered upon him after the performance.

"SAUCE FOR THE GOSLINGS"

Mrs. Taylor .....Helen Devaney
Mr. Taylor .....Theodore Turcotte
Elizabeth Taylor .....Gertrude McConville
Bob Taylor .....Austin McNally
James Ward .....Jonathan Davis
Grandmother .....Dorothy Fay
Maid .....Ina Pickels

A father, mother, and grandmother, in a desperate effort to correct the speech of their young son and daughter, decide to give them a taste of their own medicine by adopting slang on the occasion of an important visit from a well known college friend of Bob's on whom Bob wishes to make a good impression.

The son Bob, and daughter Beth, are dumbfounded when they hear "noisy street jargon" slip from the tongues of their dignified parents. The final touch is added when the grandmother "vamps" the young man, James Ward, whom Beth had marked for her invitation to the Junior Prom.

Slowly and dimly, light begins to break upon the children, and the play ends with Bob's and Beth's promise to "slang no more," and the much coveted invitation is received by Beth from James. A comedy, full of fun, amusing situations and rapid action—it was a remarkable success, and gave to the class the coveted first place in the contest.

"NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH"

Mrs. Ralston ..... Alice McNally
Dick Donnelly ..... Justin McNally
Bishop Doran ..... Henry Broderick
Clarence Van Dusen ..... Jonathan Davis
Mable ..... Elizabeth Maitland
Sable ..... Sylvia Wilson
Ethel Clark ..... Gertrude McConville
Marie ..... Ina Pickels

"Nothing but the Truth," is built upon the idea that "Bob" Bennett shall speak nothing but the absolute truth for a full twenty-four hours. He bets his friends, E. M. Ralston, the father of his sweetheart, Dick Donnelly, his pal, and Clarence Van Dusen, ten thousand dollars that he can do it, and boldly tackles the proposition. For a short time, the task is comparatively easy, but Truth routs out old man Trouble and then things begin to happen. Trouble doesn't seem very large and aggressive when he first pokes his nose into the noble resolve of our hero, but he grows rapidly and soon we see Bob disrupting the domestic relations of his partner and father-in-law-to-be and very nearly losing his intended wife, "Gwen Ralston." Situations that are absurd, and complications almost knotted, pile up—all credited to Truth and the result of the wager to foster and cherish that great virture—from the lips of the man who has espoused the cause of truth to win a wager. However, when the nerve-racking twenty-four hours are finally over, the bet is laid open, Bob wins his ten thousand dollars, straightens out his friend's domestic troubles, and, last but not least, wins, all over again, this time for good—Gwen.

BASE BALL
3.15

Preamble

In future years, when pleasant memories of C. H. S. return to us, no reminiscence will be more pleasant, or bring us more pride, than the thoughts of our athletes of '23.

Members of our class held a majority of the positions in every branch of sport, and the others of 1923 who were not athletically inclined, enthusiatically led our younger schoolmates in arousing the true school spirit, which of late years has seemed to be dying out.

It is doubtful if C. H. S. was ever represented by a stronger football team. Pitted against heavier teams from larger schools, they "brought home the bacon" every time with few exceptions.

The basket ball team has a record to be proud of.

The baseball team is well under way and if signs are any indication another good team ought to be developed.

The girl's basket-ball team may well boast of its success. Although handicapped by the lack of a good floor at the beginning of the season, the girls ventured to oppose even the strong Cushing Academy team and made a very creditable showing.

Too much cannot be said in praise of Mr. McCaffrey and Miss Gibbons who have worked so ably and diligently to procure these splendid results.

By Mr. McCaffrey's suggestion, a cheering section was organized. This accomplished a double purpose; it urged on the players to greater achievements and it aroused greater interest among the students.

The treasury of the A.A., is undoubtedly in the best financial condition ever, due to the careful surveillance of Mr. Cobb, the treasurer.

With much available material, the future of next year's teams seems very rosy, and we are confident of seeing as good, perhaps even better teams than we have in the past.

Farewell, Mr. Coach. Although absent in body, our hearts are with you, for every success to your future teams.

FOOTBALL

In spite of the loss of many of last year's veterans, the football team started off with a bang. Mr. McCaffrey, with great patience and thoroughness, produced a team which became one of the best teams in the state, losing only three games, one because of inexperience, the other two because of the absence of regulars and a turn of luck. Altogether, the team amassed a total of 231 points against 94 for their opponents.

Ed. Cleary, '23 Captain, was a hard and aggressive tackler. His ability to diagnose plays made him one of the most feared men on the team.

Wm A. McNally, '24 Captain elect, was fast going down under punts and very instrumental in breaking up the opposing team's interference.

P. Kittredge, '23, as half back was the terror of enemy team, and one of the best men playing his position in High School football in New England. Because of his great reputation, "Watch Kittredge" became the watchword of the opposing teams.

J. Gibbons, '25 (H-B), was quick to diagnose the forward passes of the opposing team. He was a hard tackler and carried the ball well.

W. Kraemer, '23 (F-B), was the team's wonder boy. He was a bear at hitting the line and proved a great asset to the team by his interference in behalf of his backfield mates.

Lester Dyer, '24 (Q-B), was the brains of the team, and considering his diminutive size, too much praise cannot be given him.

L. Burke, '23 (center), was a sure and consistant passer, and many of the opposing team's line plunges were stopped by his efforts.

J. Connelly, '23 (T), was a good imitation of his favorite plaything, a locomotive, hitting the line with herculean strength and always nailing his man.

A. Forance, '25 (G), played his position well, very few gains being made through his part of the line.

J. McNally, '24 (G), knew the game and how to play it, he was a valuable man to the team.

A. McNally, '23 (H-B), showed the real fighting stuff that C.H.S men are noted for.

Wm. McNally, '24 (E), the fourth McNally on the team, kept up both the reputation of the family and C.H.S.

Edw. Philbin, '23, was a hard tacker and persistent fighter, always at the bottom of the pile.

George O'Toole, '23 (Q-B), demonstrated that the handicap of size was not necessarily a barrier to good football.

Salmon, '24 (G), a dependable guard. You could always feel confident that he would be on his job every time.

E. F. Osgood, '23 Manager. Too much praise can not be given him for his careful surveillance of the needs of the team.

Schultz '23, M. Gibbons '26, Saunders '25, I. Kraemer '23, Cannon '24, John Connelly '26 were always ready to do their part and help to bring victory to C.H.S.

BASKETBALL

The basketball season was very successful, considering the lack of available veterans from last year's team. The squad was built up around Captain Kittredge, the only veteran.

The team has a fine record, having won every game played at home in Turner Hall, and most of the out-of-town games. In the Worcester County tournament, they entered the semi-finals.

Captain Kittredge was an inspiration to his team mates. His tireless efforts have been well rewarded. He was the individual high scorer of the year, and was selected as center on the All-Worcester County team by virtue of his all-around good work in the tournament.

Kuettner, '23 (l. f.), was an exceptionally good shooter and heady player. His loss to the team of 1923-24 will be keenly felt.

McNally, '25 (r. f.), was a steady passer, at all times reliable, and a tremendous help to the team.

Johnson, '26 (r. b.), showed great basketball ability for a green man. Before the end of the season his great defensive work and knowledge of the game made him a great asset to the team.

Russell, '25 (l. b.), was the surprise of the season. He learned quickly, and proved to be the main pillar of our defense.

Lester Dyer '24, Stanley Macora '24, and Gates '25 gave a good account of themselves when called upon to fill the shoes of the regulars. All of these men should make the team next year.

James McHale '24, gave a good account of himself as manager and is largely responsible for the team's success.

Losing only two men through graduation, the prospects of next year's team are very bright.

BASEBALL

At the beginning of the season the baseball team was handicapped by the lack of veterans, the same as the basketball team, the greater part of last year's team either graduating or leaving school. The season was brilliantly started by the defeat of both Sacred Heart Academy and St. John's H. S. If this fine work is kept up the entire season, a championsh p team is assured of.

Kraemer '23, Captain, is holding down the back stop position. He is a sure thrower, heavy hitter, and his knowlegde of the game makes him one of the strongholds of the team.

The pitching end of the game is well taken care of by McHale '24, Johnson '26, and Joyce '26. Joyce, when not pitching, fills in well at second because of h's hitting ability. They sure have the stuff, and each one is regarded as a top notcher. Joyce, when not pitching, holds down second base in fine style.

Scanlon '24, the diminutive short-stop, has shown his worth by his snappy fielding and timely hitting.

Kittredge, Clinton's star athlete, has been used at first base this year to strengthen the infield. He has shown his ability to cover the initial sack in the same finished way he covered second in other years.

S. Macora, '24, alternated between right field and the backstop position. He showed up excellently in both positions, and his timely hitting made him a valuable man to the team.

M. Gibbons, '26, covered the center garden in fine style for a beginner. His spectacular catches nipped many a run in the bud.

P. O'Malley, '26, showed his worth by his consistent fielding and fine work on the keystone rack.

F. Kerrigan covered right field, and brought in many runs by his timely hitting.

J. Davis, Manager, kept the team supplied with bats, balls, etc. The school was very fortunate to secure such an efficient manager, and his services have been fully appreciated by the four classes. We hope that next year's team may find such an all-round good manager as this year's team has enjoyed.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

The prospect for the 1923 team looked dark at the beginning of the season, owing to the lack of a floor, and the scarcity of veterans.

Turner Hall was procured, and under the skillful coaching of Miss Gibbons an excellent team was developed.

Alice Hurley, Captain (c). Too much can not be said for this sturdy member of the team. She was an excellent center and accurate shooter, a typical general of the team in every respect.

Bessie Maitland (g) '23 played her position to perfection. She was a good mixer and always came out with the ball.

C. Saunders (b) '25, a heady player and fast passer, she proved a wonderful asset to the team.

B. McQuoid was the star of the team. Her spectacular shots held the spectators spellbound.

Ethel Maitland '24 was a steady passer, accurate shooter, and all-around good player.

Ina Pickles '23 was the team's wonder player for her size. Quick as lightning, she could dodge and outplay many larger opponents.

Helen O'Toole '24 and M. Childs '24 were always ready to do their part when called upon to help.

Mary Fadgen '23 caused a severe loss to the team when she received doctor's orders to stop playing.

Helen Hoban, the worthy manager, deserves no little credit for the team's success.

CLASS SONG

Music by Lawrence Webster Kittredge
Words by Edna G. Cameron

I.

Fare thee well, dear Clinton High,
Partings hour is drawing nigh,
There is a link within the past
That holds our friendship fast.
Changing years shall never break;
Memories from us never take;
Those happy days we'll cherish still
To cheer us as we climb Life's hill.

CHORUS

Farewell to Clinton High,
We leave thee with a sigh;
Dear old class of twenty-three,
We shall all remember thee.
Thou art our guiding star,
Thy light shall lead us far
Over the future's way,
To nobler deeds each day.

II.

Now we turn aside the past,
Summoned by a bugle blast
From golden hours, we proudly rise,
Sad thoughts and parting sighs
Vanish like the clouds at dawn;
With new hopes we enter on
A calmer sea, where storms shall cease;
A purer sky, where all is peace.

CONCLUSION

A period in our lives has been lived; an important phase of our existence has been completed. We stand now upon the threshold of greater things; the next few years will determine to a great extent whether we shall win the smile of that fickle and merciless goddess whom men have named Success.

Life, at its best, is a queer game. Although, nominally, all men are born equal, as a matter of fact, we are shunted into life willy-nilly with talents, great, small, and mediocre, and are compelled to play the Grim Game wherein natural ability is the deciding factor and Fate and Circumstance the referees. A few men, better gifted and more favored by luck, win to the heights; but in proportion to the few who win, myriads must lose and accept the bitter fate of the losers.

To escape generalities and become more specific, our class is a small example of the world in its larger sense. Within its limits are boys and girls possessed of marked ability and the things which tend towards success in life; and there, also, are others, who through no fault of their own, perhaps, will find the going rather rough and the great battle too much for their inadequate capacities. It is of them that we speak; and it is to the Sons of Fortune that our words are spoken.

Too often the man who tastes of the sweet fruits of triumph, who basks in the roseate glory of achieved ambition, forgets, in his joy and in his pride, the lot of the loser—the bitter bed of his less fortunate fellows. He enjoys life because it has been good to him; and he enjoys it with an unholy selfishness. There are some faults which are more despicable and cheaper than selfishness, but if there are, they are very few.

Whatever his other faults may be, he who is helpful and who lends a hand to a weak and staggering brother is the last analysis, a truly good man.

And as we turn down the Great Road let this be our thought, dear class of '23; that we who are fortunate in the trim arena of life shall help those of us who are less fortunate; that no one of our classmates, no matter who he or she may be, shall seek for aid and find his call unanswered. With this thought in mind, we will face the fray a united, loyal, and love-bound class—true gentlemen and gentlewomen.
